AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 20921Lab., dated the 29th April 1949, this industrial dispute between Ganges Jute Manufacturing Co., Ltd., district Hooghly, and their workmen represented by the Bansberia Jute Mills Labour Union, in connection with the cases of 125 specified women workers of the sack-sewing department has been referred to me as an Industrial Tribunal for adjudication. The 125 workers were discharged, some of them with effect on different dates between 29th January and 19th March 1949. These workers were referred to the mills Nos. I and II of the Ganges Jute Mills. By the Government of West Bengal, Labour and Industries Department, order No. 3443Lab., dated the 15th August 1948, a three-Judge Industrial Tribunal was constituted for adjudicating upon various disputes in the Jute Textile Industry in West Bengal between the employers of 89 specified jute mills including the Ganges Jute Mills and their workmen. One of the disputes centred round issue No. (9) which was worded as "procedure for reinstatement and payment of compensation". In the proceedings before that Major Jute Textile Industry Tribunal of issue No. (9) and the award had to be stopped in view of an order of prohibition received from the High Court of Calcutta, this order having been obtained at the instance of the employers. The contention raised on the side of the employers was that the Tribunal had no jurisdiction to deal with the subject of retrenchment or re-instatement or compensation. The High Court of Calcutta disposed of the rule issued by reaching a decision against the employers, who eventually took the matter in appeal to the Federal Court of India. The matter happens to be still pending before the Federal Court, and the original dispute relating to issue No. (9) on the subject of retrenchment has not yet been adjudicated upon. The Major Jute Textile Industry Tribunal in respect of the Jute Textile Industry proceeded with the hearing of the other issues and eventually gave an Award on the 31st August 1948. This Award was published in the Calcutta Gazette by the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, order No. 3443Lab., dated the 20th September 1948. It is contended on behalf of the workers that the proceeding in respect of issue No. (9) relating to the subject of retrenchment is still pending and the discharge of the 125 women workers amounts to an illegal lock-out, and in any case the retrenchment was not justified under the particular circumstances, and the action taken by the Company amounted to an unfair labour practice. It has been contended, on the other hand, by the Company that the proceedings of the three-Judge Tribunal in respect of the Jute Textile Industry concluded on the 20th September 1948, the date of publication of the Award, and it cannot be said that any part of the proceeding is still pending, and that the retrenchment in respect of superfluous and uneconomic units of labour was justified under the particular circumstances, and the Company's action does not amount to either an illegal lock-out or an unfair labour practice. In the light of the statements submitted by the parties and of the discussions relating thereto the following issues have been framed:-

- (1) Was the employer entitled to make any retrenchment pending decision of the question before the Federal Court? If so, was the retrenchment of 125 specified women workers justified?
- (2) Are the workers concerned or any of them entitled to re-instatement and/or compensation? If so, on what lines?

2. For the sake of convenience the present reference has been dealt with simultaneously with another reference between the same parties as per Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2778Lab., dated the 8th June 1949, in respect of an industrial dispute in connection with the discharge of 52 general coolies. The issues framed in the latter case are practically on the same lines as those framed in connection with the present industrial dispute. Apart from the question of justification or otherwise of the retrenchment of 125 women workers in the present case, the pre-eminent question as involved in the first part of issue No. (1) is whether the employer was entitled to make any retrenchment pending decision of the matter by the Federal Court as referred to in the preceding paragraph. The question immediately arises as to whether this act of retrenchment amounted to an illegal lock-out under the particular circumstances. The contention raised on behalf of the workmen is that the employer has, by having recourse to the pendency of the proceedings regarding issue No. (9) before the Major Jute Textile Industry Tribunal which, it is argued, is still in existence I have already indicated the circumstances under which the Major Jute Textile Industry Tribunal was unable to adjudicate upon issue No. (9) and give its Award in respect of that issue along with the Award regarding the other issues. The question of jurisdiction of the Tribunal to deal with that issue is still pending before the Federal Court, and the order of prohibition being still operative the Major Jute Textile Industry Tribunal is unable to handle the matter. It has been argued on behalf of the Company in the present case that in so far as the Major Jute Tribunal gave an Award which was published by a Government order, dated the 20th September 1948, the proceedings before that Tribunal must be deemed to have concluded within the meaning of section 20(3) of the Industrial Disputes Act, or, in other words, that Tribunal has become functus officio. On giving very careful consideration to this line of argument advanced on the side of the employer I find myself unable to accept it as correct in law. The Government order of reference No. 343Lab., dated the 15th August 1947, appointing a three-Judge Industrial Tribunal in respect of the Jute Textile Industry makes it clear that the matter referred for adjudication by that Tribunal consisted of different disputes in the Jute Textile Industry between the employers of 89 specified jute mills including the mills with which we are concerned in the present case and their workmen. The Jute Textile Industry Tribunal framed several issues relating to the different disputes, and the proceedings were carried on with regard to all those different disputes. In the midst of the proceedings some of the employers took the initiative in securing an order of prohibition from the appropriate court, and in consequence the proceeding in respect of issue No. (9) relating to the subject of retrenchment had to be stayed by the Tribunal while the proceedings with regard to several other issues were carried on and brought to a conclusion by the making and publication of an Award in respect of those other issues. The question is what has happened or will happen to issue No. (9) relating to the subject of retrenchment, the question of the Tribunal's jurisdiction to deal with that issue being still open to be agitated before the Federal Court. Can it be legitimately contended that the proceeding in respect of issue No. (9) has also concluded simply because the proceedings in respect of certain other disputes before the same Major Tribunal were brought to a conclusion by the making and publication of an Award? It is noticeable that the mills under the present Company and other jute mills in West Bengal adopted on the whole a policy of refraining from effecting any retrenchment so long as the Award of the Major Jute Textile Industry Tribunal was not published. Evidently most of the jute mills proceeded on the footing that it would not be correct to indulge in acts of retrenchment during the pendency of the proceedings before the Major Jute Tribunal. I must say that that was a perfectly correct attitude. It seems to be now thought by the present employers and possibly employers in other jute mills that there is at present no legal bar to action by way of retrenchment. The crucial question is whether the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal, constituted by the Government order, dated the 15th August 1947, is still entitled to function with regard to the proceeding in respect of issue No. (9) which that Tribunal was compelled to keep in abeyance in view of the order of prohibition issued by the appropriate court. Looking at the reference made by the order, dated the 15th August 1947, I must say that issue No. (9) involved only one of the particular disputes referred which the Tribunal never got the chance of adjudicating upon, and that Tribunal is still bound under the order to proceed with the adjudication as soon as its hands are freed from the fetters imposed by the order of prohibition. The proceeding in respect of issue No. (9) before the Major Jute Tribunal can by no means be said to have concluded inasmuch as no Award in respect of that issue has yet been made by the Tribunal appointed for the purpose, and of course no such Award has been published. The fact that an Award made by that Tribunal in respect of several other issues which the Tribunal itself free to adjudicate upon was published by the Government order, dated the 20th September 1948, does not in any manner alter the situation. A contrary view regarding an interpretation of section 20(3) of the Industrial Disputes Act obviously lead us into absurdities, in so far as such a view would mean that a temporary stoppage of a proceeding before a Tribunal brought about by an order of prohibition amounts to an ever lasting stoppage. It indeed be quite easy for an employer to prevent or gag a particular issue by securing an order of prohibition in respect of the proceeding if the Tribunal happens to make an Award in respect of one or more other connected issues. That Award happens to be published before the appropriate court arrives at a decision regarding the subject-matter of the order of prohibition, do not think the law intends to encourage a thing at all. On giving very careful consideration to all aspects of the matter I have come to a definite conclusion that the Industrial Tribunal appointed by the Government order, dated the 15th August 1947, for the adjudication of a number of industrial disputes in the Jute Textile Industry is still alive, subject to such limitations as may be permitted by the law as to the personnel, and the particular industrial dispute involved in issue No. (9) as far as that Tribunal will have to be dealt with by the same Tribunal as soon as the order of prohibition is withdrawn. That being the position it must follow that the proceeding in respect of issue No. (9) relating to the subject of retrenchment before the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal constituted by an order, dated the 15th August 1947, is still pending before that Tribunal and is bound to function actively and to take up the threads of the proceeding where they were so long as the fetters imposed by the order of prohibition are removed.

3. The retrenchment in respect of 12 workers of the sack-sewing department in the present Company was effected during the pendency of the proceeding in respect of issue No. (9) before the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal. On behalf of the Company it has been contended that this act of discharge amounts to a lock-out within the meaning of section 2(I) of the Industrial Disputes Act, and the employer in this case must be held to have declared a lock-out of a large number of workers of the sack-sewing department during the pendency of the proceeding in respect of issue No. (9) before the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal, and that the lock-out is an illegal lock-out within the meaning of section 23(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act. There is no manner of doubt that the act of discharge has been done during the pendency of the proceeding. The only question that remains to be considered is whether this act amounts to a lock-out, or, in other words, whether the retrenchment amounts to a refusal by the employer to continue to employ the particular workers employed by him within the meaning of section 2(I) of the Act. It has been argued on behalf of the Company in the present case that the act of discharge by way of retrenchment does not amount to a lock-out within the meaning of section 2(I) of the Act. With regard to this matter I must refer to paragraphs 3 and 4 of my Award in respect of an industrial dispute between the S. N. S. Mills, 8, Station Road, Lillooah, Howrah, and their workmen as published in the Calcutta Gazette by Government order No. 364-Lab. dated the 25th July 1949, in the Calcutta Gazette of the 28th July 1949. It will be worth while to quote profusely from that Award in connection with the present Award may be fairly self-explanatory. In this connection I can do no better than quote the order, dated the 10th December 1947.

only by the Major Jute Textile Industry consisting of my learned colleagues C. Banerjee and Sri N. C. Chakravarti as Chairman, in connection with an award dated the 22nd October 1947, filed under the second part of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act for permission to disallow workmen working in the Listing Department which was intended to be closed on account of want of work. The Tribunal eventually allowed the application on the footing that the award did not lie. With regard to the provisions of section 23 and section 33 of the Act, the relationship between the two sections, I have made certain observations in course of the award. I take the opportunity of quoting those observations for my present purpose. I refer to the following observations:—

"We have given our best consideration to all these provisions in the light of the paramount object of the Act and the intention of the Legislature in providing for the maintenance of the status quo during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings as indicated by section 23 and the second part of section 33, we have come to the conclusion that the second part of section 33 is intended to deal with cases of discharge and dismissal or of any other variety of punishment or of any other way of punishment for a fault or a default and not to cases of simple termination of service. The paramount object of the Industrial Disputes Act is the establishment and preservation of industrial peace by methods of conciliation and adjudication and otherwise. Let us make a brief survey of the position that the Legislature intends that the status quo must be maintained during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings. Section 23 of the Act lays down that no workman shall go on strike and no employer shall declare a lock-out during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings. Section 24 lays down that a strike or a lock-out shall not be commenced or declared in contravention of section 23. Section 26 provides for punishment against any workman or any employer who acts in contravention of the provisions of section 23 and section 24. As regards the definition in section 2(7) of the Act of "lock-out" means the closing of a place of employment, or the suspension of work, or the refusal by an employer to continue to employ a number of persons employed by him. It is clear that the definition of "lock-out" in section 2(7) of the Trade Disputes Act of 1929, as amended, was given in exactly the same words with the following words added:—

"such closing, suspension or refusal to continue to employ a number of persons employed by him, irrespective of the purpose of compelling those persons or another employer in compelling persons to accept terms or conditions of employment." It is apparent that such qualifying words were deliberately added by the Legislature when the present Industrial Disputes Act was enacted. Under the Trade Disputes Act of 1929, an act of closing of a place of employment, or of suspension of work, or of refusal by an employer to continue to employ a number of persons employed by him, irrespective of the purpose, amounts to a "lock-out" absolutely prohibits a lock-out description.

about the absolute prohibition of a lock-out during the pendency of adjudication proceedings. The first part of section 33 of the Act prohibits any alteration of the conditions of service which may be prejudicial to the interests of the workmen concerned. In our view this rule of prohibition applies to prejudicial alteration of conditions of existing service, and not to termination of employment. It is quite clear from the provisions of the Act discussed above that the Legislature definitely intends the status quo to be maintained during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings. The question is whether the second part of section 33 lays down a sort of exception to this general rule. We have given our anxious consideration to all aspects of the matter and have come to the conclusion that although the second part of section 33 providing for the express permission of the Tribunal in certain cases of discharge or dismissal or of any other variety of punishment may in a way be described as a sort of exception to the general rule of maintenance of the status quo, the scope of that part of section 33 is very limited. We interpret the second part of section 33 on the following lines:—"The express permission in writing of the Tribunal during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings should be applied for when the employer wishes to discharge, dismiss or otherwise punish a workman in connection with matters other than misconduct not connected with the dispute. The words 'discharge' and 'dismiss' being associated with and influenced by the concept of punishment for a fault or a default involved in the subsequent words 'otherwise punish', would mean more or less the same thing. Permission of the Tribunal should be sought when action by way of discharge or dismissal is intended by way of punishment for a fault or a default and not in simple cases of termination of service by way of retrenchment or otherwise under circumstances not connected with any idea of punishment. No permission of the Tribunal is necessary when the employer wishes to discharge, dismiss or otherwise punish a workman for misconduct not connected with the dispute. The purpose of the second part of section 33 is to lay down that in cases covered by it an act of suspension of work or of refusal by an employer to continue to employ a workman will not bring the employer within the mischief of section 26 read with sections 23 and 24, provided that permission of the Tribunal has been obtained where the law requires it."

For the purposes of the present proceeding I adopt all the principles enunciated in the above quotation, as I do not see sufficient reason for deviating from the view which I, in collaboration with two other learned colleagues, took on a previous occasion in 1947. It appears that I also took the same view on the subject of the scope of the definition of "lock-out" in paragraphs 3(3) and 3(4) of my Award in the matter of an industrial dispute between the management of the National Iron and Steel Co., Ltd., and the Tatanagar Foundry Co., Ltd., Belur Howrah, and their workmen as published by Government of West Bengal order No. 860Lab., dated the 25th February 1949, in the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 10th March 1949. The same view was also taken by Sri M. C. Banerjee in his Award in connection with an industrial dispute between Spence, Ltd., and Spence, Ltd. Workers' Union as published by Government of West Bengal order No. 3821Lab., dated the 28th January 1949, in the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 3rd February 1949. Reference in this connection may also be usefully made to the observations made by Sir H. V. Divatia in his Award in the trade dispute between the Empire of India Life Assurance Co., Ltd., Bombay, and its employees as published on page 187 of the Bombay Labour Gazette of October 1947. The learned Adjudicator in the Bombay case was dealing with a definition of "lock-out" under the Defence of India Rules, which was identical with the definition under the Trade Disputes Act of 1929. The definition under the Trade Disputes Act intended the concept of "lock-out" to be restricted by certain words involving an element of intention on the part of the employer. Those restrictive words have been deliberately omitted under the present Industrial Disputes Act, and in my view there is no room for introducing any element of intention, either bona fide or mala fide, into the definition of "lock-out" under the present Act. An act of discharge of one or more employees would, in my opinion, amount to a lock-out when the discharge amounts to a refusal by the employer to continue to employ the employee or employees. In the definition of "lock-out" under section 2(I) of the present Industrial Disputes Act the words "persons employed by him" mean "employees". There is no reason why an act of discharge may not amount to an act of refusal by the employer to continue to employ the employee or employees concerned. Under suitable circumstances the refusal to continue to employ takes place at the very moment of the order of discharge. In this connection I may usefully refer to certain observations made in the last portion of paragraph 12 of the Award of Sir H. V. Divatia in the Empire of India Life Assurance case referred to above. The observations run as follows:—"I therefore hold not only that the discharge notices against all the strikers who were not proved to have taken individual part in the disorderly demonstrations are not valid and were not meant to be discharge notices but that the action of the Company really amounted to a lock-out within the definition of the term under the Trade Disputes Act as the Company refused to continue their employment in consequence of the dispute that was going on and it was intended for the purpose of compelling the strikers to accept the terms and conditions of the Company for resuming the work." The last portion of this observation relating to the element of intention, though relevant in connection with the definition of lock-out which was operative under the then existing law, is not relevant at all for our present purposes in the light of the present Industrial Disputes Act. I have quoted the above observation for the purpose of showing that Sir H. V. Divatia while dealing with the case referred to came to the finding that the act of discharge amounted to a lock-out of the employees as the Company refused to continue their employment, or in other words the learned Adjudicator considered that the act of discharge in that case amounted to an act of refusal to continue to employ the employees. As regards the relationship between section 23(b) and the second part of section 33 of the present Act there does not appear to be any real conflict between the two on the footing of the scope and implications of the definition of lock-out which I have given above. As I had occasion to observe in concurrence with two other learned colleagues in the order in connection with the Bengal Jute Mill case in 1947, "the purpose of the second part of section 33 is to lay down that in cases covered by it an act of suspension of work or of refusal by an employer to continue to employ a workman will not bring the employer within the mischief of section 26 read with sections 23 and 24, provided that permission of the Tribunal has been obtained where the law requires it". It will therefore appear that there is no real conflict between section 23(b) on the footing of the interpretation of "lock-out" given above, and the second part of section 33 which is intended to come into operation only for the purposes of punishment in connection with acts of misconduct on the part of employees. The second part of section 33 which occurs in Chapter VII under the heading of "Miscellaneous" in the Act may be described as a sort of exception to the general rule of maintenance of the status quo, but the scope of the second part of section 33 is very limited. If we read section 23 and section 33 from this angle there will be no room for any conflict simply owing to the fact the period mentioned in section 23(b) includes months after the conclusion of the proceedings while the period under section 33 is restricted only to the duration of the proceedings. In so far as the scope of section 33 is intended to deal with cases of charge or dismissal under exceptional instances of punishment on account of misconduct it should be possible to co-ordinate the two without introducing any idea of a possible conflict. In view of what I have stated to come to the finding, for the purposes of the present proceeding, that the discharge of women workers of the sack-sewing department ordered on different dates in January, February and March 1949 amounted to a lock-out the meaning of the existing definition of the expression, and in so far as the lock-out declared during the pendency of the proceedings in respect of issue No. (9) before the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal constituted by Government order, dated the 15th August 1949 amounted to an illegal lock-out

4. In view of the above finding I am in the first part of issue No. (1) in the present case negative and hold that the employer is not entitled to make any retrenchment pending the decision of the question before the Tribunal. This Tribunal is not concerned with the penal action in respect of the illegal lock-out declared by the employer. The answer to the second part of that issue relating to the justification of the retrenchment of 12 workers does not strictly arise. But in order to enable this Tribunal to determine the question which the remedies as contemplated in issue No. (2) are to be provided for, it is necessary to enter into the question of justification. The Tribunal has assigned the following broad reasons for the retrenchment ordered:

(a) The women workers in the sack-sewing department who are piece-rate workers are entitled to legitimate retrenchment in the past and to work on slender wages, the totality of the work available being shared by a disproportionately large number of workers. In view of the wishes of the workers themselves the Company refrained from effecting retrenchment in the past. In recent years, and particularly since the publication of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award, constant amounts of allowance inclusive of food concessions have been paid to all workers irrespective of their earnings on the piece-rate system. This has resulted in considerable losses to the Company and the sack-sewing department.

(b) In the months following the publication of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award and pending the recent retrenchment the Company has sustained severe losses indicating the necessity for a stringent economy.

(c) The complement of hands, which includes hand-sewers per every over-head machine, was proportionately larger than in other departments.

(d) The work available for the sack-sewing department can be comfortably handled by the present number of hand-sewers, and under the prevailing conditions the retrenchment of the sack-sewers after the retrenchment of the hand-sewers is not justified. The scale of earnings by individual hand-sewers is in approximate proportion to the scale characterised by the Jute Tribunal in its Award.

(e) The industry is suffering at present from various maladies arising from the present for jute fabrics and the supply of raw materials and other factors, and the production has and may be further reduced.

It may be that some of the reasons enumerated are more or less substantial, and the industry is at the moment faced with certain difficulties attending the introduction of a policy of withdrawal of superfluous labour for reasons of economy. I appreciate some of the broad reasons which have been agitated before this Tribunal on the side of the Company, I am not quite satisfied that the treatment of the entire body of 125 women in the sack-sewing department was really justified. It is not improbable that the discharge of a large number of workers might serve the industry up to a legitimate level. For a proper estimation of the work-load and of the number of workers legitimately required for carrying out the work available the appointment of a technical expert would be necessary. The parties, however, have agreed on the subject of appointment of an expert.

The Tribunal had, therefore, to proceed on the basis of general ideas regarding the situation. It is noticeable that there was no substantial fall in production immediately before the retrenchment compared with the figures of previous months. The principal reason for the retrenchment appears to be the alleged necessity of effecting economy in the losses in business which are said to have occurred in recent times. It is possible that the Company is at the moment in a somewhat bad way and the elimination of surplus labour was thought of as a necessary measure of economy. But, as I have already indicated there is no sufficient material before me to show that the retrenchment of all the workers concerned in this case was really justified by the circumstances. Under the present conditions of the country's economy every employer is unable to realise that it is his duty to handle the subject of retrenchment with the greatest care and to avoid retrenchment wherever possible. The reasons for retrenchment should not be stated in a light-hearted manner and it should be pointed out by employers that it is highly undesirable to take the sudden step of throwing hundreds of workers out of employment. Under prevailing conditions it will be extremely difficult, if not impossible, for the majority of those once retrenched to find suitable jobs. I should like to impress on the parties to look at the question from that point of view. It follows that even where an act of retrenchment is legal and justified, payment of compensation may be called for. That is a principle which formed a subject matter of issue before the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal. In the present case the act of retrenchment has been held to be an illegal action, and it was up to the Company to wait for the Jute Tribunal's Award in issue No. (9) after the order of prohibition was withdrawn in accordance with the expected decision of the Federal Court. As regards the question of justification of the retrenchment, while it is conceded that there are some justifiable reasons, it is difficult to be satisfied that the retrenchment of the entire body of 125 workers was justified. It is not practicable, under the circumstances, to find out the extent to which the retrenchment was justified. Although it was not possible to answer the second part of issue No. (1), I have answered in the way indicated above.

I now proceed to a consideration of issue No. 2, which regards the remedies to be provided for the workers in the event of re-instatement. The question is whether there should be an order of re-instatement to the original position or to the position which the Company occupies at the time of re-instatement. It is suggested that the order of re-instatement should be to the original position, whether under the original conditions or under the new conditions.

indicating some elements of justification an order of re-instatement should be made without leaving any alternative to the employer. The Tribunal will exercise its discretion in the light of all the circumstances and factors considered together and apply the remedy which may be considered most suitable and proper. It is noticeable that the Company has already re-instated two permanent workers of Mill No. I and one permanent worker of Mill No. II to permanent employments. The Company should consider the question of re-instating all the discharged workers to their original status. To that end I shall make an order of re-instatement. At the same time, however, I have decided to leave an alternative by way of compensation alone in view of the prevailing elements of difficulty confronting the jute textile industry in general, and the mills under the present Company in particular. If the employer decides to re-instate a particular retrenched worker to her original status within a reasonable time after the publication of this Award, there will be no further order regarding payment of compensation, as I see that the discharged workers have been and will presumably be given an opportunity to work as budli workers in the meantime. If, however, the employer does not choose to re-instate a particular retrenched worker within a reasonable time after the publication of the Award, he should be prepared to pay compensation in accordance with the scheme which I am presently going to determine. This scheme is in connection with the illegal lock-out which I have found to be in existence and it is being put forward in the present individual case independently of such scales of compensation as may happen to be laid down by the Major Jute Textile Industry Tribunal in the course of the adjudication of the dispute involved in issue No. (9) before that Tribunal. What I am going to lay down here applies exclusively to the particular circumstances of the present case. It does not involve any general principles. I have decided that the amount of compensation payable to a particular worker should consist of two portions which may be called the "unemployment period" portion and the "gratuity" portion respectively. The "unemployment period" portion of the compensation involves the idea that some compensation corresponding to the likely period of unemployment caused by the discharge should be paid. The "gratuity" portion of the compensation involves the idea that some compensation more or less in the nature of a gratuity should be given to workers who have rendered one or more completed years of service. The "gratuity" portion of the compensation which I am going to determine in this case has no intrinsic connection with the scheme of "gratuity" propounded by the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal in paragraph 15(7) of its Award although I am going to adopt certain elements of that portion of the Jute Tribunal's Award. I have decided that in calculating the "gratuity" portion of the compensation the following principles should be worked out:—(a) An amount at the rate of half a month's basic wages for each completed year of continuous service shall form the "gratuity" portion of the compensation, (b) the basis of calculating such compensation shall be the average basic wages not including over-time wages or any allowances, bonuses or other benefits during the last 12 months of service on full wages. As regards the "unemployment period" portion of the compensation I have decided to lay down the following scheme:—

(a) Intermittent budli workers and temporary workers shall be given compensation to the extent of two months' basic wages plus Rs. 65, the expression "basic wages" bearing the same meaning as in the case of the "gratuity" portion of the compensation.

(b) As regards permanent workers the total monthly emolument shall be taken to be composed of the "basic wages" as defined in connection with the gratuity portion of the compensation plus Rs. 32-8, and the "unemployment period" portion of the compensation payable to each permanent worker shall be calculated on the basis given below:—

Up to 3 completed years of continuous service—
4 months' total emolument.

More than 3 but less than 5 completed years of continuous service—4½ months' total emolument.

Five or more completed years of continuous service—5 months' total emolument.

6. I now proceed to work out the principles enunciated in the preceding paragraph in the cases of the individuals with whom we are concerned. All amounts which may be due to each individual worker up to the last date of actual service rendered such as wages, allowances, provident fund contributions, and all other amenities, shall be paid to the worker within a reasonable time. This, however, does not form any part of the compensation awarded. Out of the 125 women workers discharged from service in the two mills, one Parbotia is stated to have chosen to retire voluntarily after rendering more than 15 years' service, and the employer's case is that she was paid off the amount of gratuity which was payable to her in accordance with paragraph 15(7) of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award. As this is a case of voluntary retirement and not a case of untimely discharge under compulsion, it is not necessary for me to deal with it at all. I therefore make no order in respect of Parbotia. Two permanent hand-sewers of No. I Mill, named Dugurmi and Nawrangia who were discharged on 19th March 1949 are stated to have been re-employed with their former status from 3rd April 1949. Similarly another permanent hand-sewer of No. II Mill, named Lachmania who was discharged on 19th March 1949 is stated to have been re-employed with her former status from 2nd May 1949. As these three workers have already been re-instated after a comparatively short period of non-employment, and Lachmania appears to have worked as a budli worker during a part of that period, it is not necessary to make any order for re-instatement or for the payment of any compensation.

As regards the remaining 121 workers, I direct in the first instance that they shall be re-instated to their jobs with their former status in each case within two weeks from the date of publication of this Award and as most of them have been given opportunities to earn as budli workers in the meantime, I do not give any direction as regards payment of compensation in such cases of actual re-instatement as may occur. I propose, however, to provide for an alternative for the Company under the particular circumstances of the case. I direct that the Company will have the option of paying compensation in accordance with the following scheme instead of carrying out the direction regarding re-instatement. As regards the payment of compensation, on the footing that the Company exercises its option in choosing the second alternative, I give the following directions. Compensation shall consist of two portions which may be called the "gratuity" portion and the "unemployment period" portion as defined in the preceding paragraph. The expressions "basic wages" and "total emolument" shall bear the meanings which have been explained in the preceding paragraph. In the following table are shown the names of the 121 workers concerned in the first column, the class of the respective workers in the second column, the number of completed years of continuous service in the third column, and the amount of the "unemployment period" portion of the compensation awarded in each case in the fourth column. The "gratuity" portion of the compensation in each case shall be calculated on the basis of the number of completed years of continuous service as shown in the third column. The total compensation payable in each case shall be found by adding two portions referred to above. In cases where certain amounts in the nature of compensation have already been paid by way of gratuity otherwise, such amounts shall be deducted by the Company from the amounts of compensation awarded. The amounts of compensation which may be payable under this Award shall be within one month from the date of its publication. The table is as shown below. I make my Award in respect of issue No. (2) accordingly.

- 4) The bulb shall be spherical and of suitable dimensions and shall be exposed on all sides to the air of the room.
- 5) The bores of the stems shall be such that the position of the top of mercury column shall be readily distinguishable at a distance of 2 feet.
- 6) Each thermometer shall be graduated so that accurate readings may be taken between 50 and 120 degrees.
- 7) Every degree from 50 degrees up to 120 degrees shall be clearly marked by horizontal lines on the stem, each fifth and tenth degree shall be marked by longer marks than the intermediate degrees and the temperature marked opposite each tenth degree, i.e., 50, 60, 70, 80, 90, 100, 110, 120.
- 8) The markings as above shall be accurate, that is to say, at no temperature between 50 and 120 degrees shall the indicated readings be in error more than two-tenths of a degree.
- 9) A distinctive number shall be indelibly marked upon the thermometer.
- 10) The accuracy of each thermometer shall be certified by the National Physical Laboratory, London, or, the Mathematical Instruments Office, Calcutta, or some competent authority appointed by the Chief Inspector. Each certificate shall be attached to the Humidity Register.

3. Hygrometer not to be affixed to wall, etc., unless protected by glass.—(1) No hygrometer shall be affixed to a wall, pillar, or other surface unless protected therefrom by wood or other non-conducting material at least an inch in thickness and distant at least one inch from the bulb of the thermometer.

(2) A hygrometer shall be fixed at a height of more than 5 feet 6 inches above the floor or to the top of thermometer stem or in the direct draughts from a low or ventilating opening.

4. Reading to be taken within 15 minutes of renewal of water.—The reading shall be taken for record on any hygrometer within 15 minutes after the renewal of water in the reservoir.

28. How to introduce steam for humidification.—In any room in which steam pipes are used for the introduction of steam for the purpose of artificial humidification of the air the following provisions shall apply—

- (a) The diameter of such pipes shall not exceed two inches and in case of pipes installed after 1st day of January 1950 the diameter shall not exceed one inch.
- (b) Such pipes shall be as short as is reasonably practicable.
- (c) All hangers supporting such pipes shall be separated from the pipes by an efficient insulator not less than half an inch in thickness.
- (d) No uncovered jet from such pipe shall project more than $\frac{1}{4}$ inch beyond the outer surface of any cover.
- (e) The steam pressure shall be as low as practicable and shall exceed 70 lbs. per square inch.
- (f) The pipe employed for the introduction of steam into the air in department shall be effectively covered with such non-conducting material, as may be approved by the Inspector in order to minimise the amount of heat radiated by them into the department.

(2) Rules 29 to 33 shall come into force, in respect of any class or description of factories, on such dates as the Provincial Government may, by notification in the official gazette, appoint in this behalf.

30. Lighting of interior parts.—(1) The general illumination over the interior parts of a factory where persons are regularly employed shall be not less than 3 foot-candles measured in the horizontal plane at a level of 3 feet above the floor:

Provided that in any such parts in which the mounting height of light source for general illumination necessarily exceeds 25 feet measured from the floor or where the structure of the room or the position or construction of the fixed machinery or plant prevents the uniform attainment of this standard, the general illumination at the said level shall be not less than 1 foot candle and where work is actually being done the illumination shall be not less than 3 foot-candles.

(2) The illumination over all other interior parts of the factory in which persons employed pass, shall, when and where a person is passing, be not less than 0.5 foot candles at floor level.

(3) The standard specified in this Rule shall be without prejudice to the provision of any additional illumination required to render the light sufficient and suitable for the nature of the work.

The table shall be provided with side guards reaching a height of not less than 4'-6" from the floor, and extending, at that height, not less than 3'-6" from the centre of the first pair of rollers; the height of the rest of the side guards shall not be less than 4' from the floor.

(c) The starting and stopping gear shall be arranged to comply with the following:—

(i) Provision for stopping the machine at both the feed and delivery ends.

(ii) Provision for starting the machine at the feed end only, the design shall be such that an operator at the feed end cannot start the machine without the co-operation of an operator at the delivery end.

(iii) When a machine is stopped for clearing a jam or attention otherwise, the starting gear shall be secured in the "off" position at least by a lock operated by a removal key in possession of the person attending the machine.

(iv) The lever operating the unbalanced weight shall be securely fenced.

(d) Sheet steel castings completely enclosing the side shafts, i.e., the bearings and gears shall not be exposed on the underside. Carding machines.—(a) The underframe shall be guarded in such a manner that it will not be possible for operatives to obtain access under the machine until the cylinder has ceased to revolve. The lowest member of the frame shall come down to a point not more than 10" from the floor and all openings above this, large enough to permit of access underneath, shall be filled in with sheet steel or fitted with bars or rods not more than 6" apart. Any part of this protection may be in the form of a door, but all such doors shall be controlled by a device which will ensure that they cannot be opened until the cylinder has come to rest, so that the machine cannot be restarted until the doors are closed:

Provided that in the case of machines installed before the commencement of this rule rigidly secured panels filling the underframe will be allowed to comply with it.

4. Drawing machines.—(a) A sheet steel guard completely closing the space between the bend rail and the bottom of the retaining roller opening and closing of which shall be controlled by the starting gear in the design such that the guard cannot be opened while the machine is running. The guard plate shall swivel more or less about the centre height, and the top edge shall swing inwards towards the gill bars when the guards open, and outwards as the guard closes.

Provided that in the case of machines installed before the commencement of this rule, a fixed guard will be sufficient if the clearance between the top of the guard and the underside of the retaining roller does not exceed 3/8".

Provided, further, that in the case of machines with individual drive it will be sufficient if the guard is of the swivelling type and linked with the driving mechanism so that sliver cannot be fed into the gills, or the guard opened, before the machine is stopped, and the machine cannot be started up unless the guard is closed.

(b) Sheet steel or cast iron guards completely enclosing the end of the machine in the design to be such that access to the gears is possible only by removing the guard in its entirety. If doors or movable panels are provided, they shall be controlled by a locking device, operated by the starting gear, which will ensure that the machine cannot be started unless the guard is completely closed and that no movable part can be opened whilst the machine is in motion.

Provided that in the case of machines installed before the commencement of this rule a guard securely held in position by automatic clamps to prevent opening by vibration but without the inter-locking arrangement will be deemed to comply with it.

(c) An efficient guard which will prevent operative's fingers or hands being caught between the delivery roller and the pressing ball.

(d) Starting and stopping gear so designed that the machine can be stopped by operatives on the feed and delivery sides; can be started by an operative on the feed side but with the co-operation of the operative on the delivery side.

Sheet steel or cast iron guards completely enclosing the end gears shall be such that access to the gears is possible only by removing the guard in its entirety. If doors or movable panels are provided they shall be controlled by a locking device, operated by the starting gear, which shall ensure that the machine cannot be started unless the guard is completely closed and that no movable part can be opened whilst the machine is in motion.

Provided that in the case of machines installed before the commencement of this rule a guard securely held in position by automatic catches not opening by vibration, but without the interlocking arrangement will be deemed to comply with it.

Shear pins driving individual carriages shall be fitted to the main back shaft and not to the pinion on the carriage back.

Spinning frames.—(a) Access between the driving cylinders whilst the machine is running shall be prevented by providing a door at the pass end so interlocked with the starting gear that neither side of the frame can be set in motion whilst the door is open and conversely, the door cannot be opened whilst either or both sides of the frame are running.

Provided that in the case of machines installed before the commencement of this rule hinged and well secured doors will be deemed to comply with it.

Sheet steel or cast iron guards completely enclosing the end gears shall be such that access to the gears is possible only by removing the guard in its entirety. In such places and in any place where the pressure exceed pressure, the portable apparatus and its flexible wire shall be control efficient means suitably located, and capable of cutting off the pr and the metal work shall be efficiently earthed independently of flexible metallic cover of the conductors, and any such flexible co shall itself be independently earthed.

15. The general arrangement of switchboards shall, so far as : ably practicable, be such that—

- (a) all parts which may have to be adjusted or handled are : accessible;
- (b) The course of every conductor may where necessary be : traced;
- (c) Conductors not arranged for connection to the same system kept well apart, and can where necessary be readily distinguished;
- (d) all bare conductors are so placed or protected as to prevent from accidental short circuit.

16. Every switchboard having bare conductors normally so e that they may be touched, shall, if not located in an area or an apart for the purposes thereof, where necessary be suitably fenced closed.

No person except an authorised person, or a person acting und immediate supervision, shall, for the purpose of carrying out his duties access to any part of an area so set apart.

17. All apparatus appertaining to a switchboard, and req handling, shall, so far as practicable, be so placed or arranged as operated from the working platform of the switchboard, and all met instruments and indicators connected therewith shall, so far as pra be so placed as to be observed from the working platform. If such a tus be worked or observed from any other place, adequate precaution be taken to prevent danger.

18. At the working platform of every switchboard and in every board passage-way, if there be bare conductors exposed or arranged exposed when live so that they may be touched, there shall be a clear unobstructed passage of ample width and height, with a firm and floor. Adequate means of access, free from danger, shall be provid every switchboard passage-way.

The following provisions shall apply to all such switchboard w platforms and passage-ways constructed after 1st April 1949, unle bare conductors, whether overhead or at the sides of the passage-way not adequately protected against danger by divisions or screens or suitable means:—

- a) Those constructed for low-pressure and medium-pressure switches shall have a clear height of not less than 7 feet, and a clear width measured from bare conductor of not less than 3 feet.
- b) Those constructed for high-pressure and extra high-pressure switches, other than operating desks or panels working solely at low pressure, shall have a clear height of not less than 8 feet, and a clear width measured from bare conductor of not less than 3 feet 6 inches.
- c) Bare conductors shall not be exposed on both sides of the switch-passage-way unless either—
 - i) the clear width of the passage is, in the case of low pressure and medium pressure not less than 4 feet 6 inches, and in the case of high-pressure and extra high-pressure, not less than 8 feet in each case measured between bare conductors, or
 - ii) the conductors on one side are so guarded that they cannot be accidentally touched.

In every switchboard for high-pressure or extra high-pressure—

Every high-pressure and extra high-pressure conductor within reach of the working platform or in any switchboard passage-way shall be so guarded or protected as adequately to prevent danger.

The metal cases of all instruments working at high-pressure or extra high-pressure shall be either earthed or completely enclosed with insulating material.

All metal handles of high-pressure and extra high-pressure switches, where necessary to prevent danger, all metal gear for working the switches, shall be earthed.

When any work is done on any switchboard for high-pressure or extra high-pressure, the switchboard shall be made dead unless—

The section of the switchboard on which the work is done (hereinafter referred to as "the relevant section") is made dead and every other section which is live is either (i) so separated from the relevant section by permanent or removable divisions or screens as not to be a source of danger to persons working on the relevant section or (ii) in such a position or if such construction as to be as safe as if so separated as aforesaid; or

The switchboard itself is so arranged as to secure that the work is done without danger without taking any of the precautions aforesaid.

All parts of generators, motors, transformers, or other similar apparatus, at high-pressure or extra high-pressure, and within reach from any position in which any person employed may require to be, shall be, where reasonably practicable, so protected as to prevent danger.

Where a high-pressure or extra high-pressure supply is transformed at a lower pressure, or energy is transformed up to above low-pressure, suitable provision shall be made to guard against danger by the lower-pressure system becoming accidentally charged above low-pressure by leakage or contact from the higher-pressure system.

Where necessary to prevent danger, adequate precautions shall be taken by earthing or by other suitable means, to prevent any metal in the conductor from becoming electrically charged.

23. Adequate precautions shall be taken to prevent any conductive apparatus from being accidentally or inadvertently electrically energised when persons are working thereon.

LABOUR DEPARTMENT

ORDER.

No. 4498Lab.—6th September 1949.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2315Lab., dated the 11th May 1949, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Burn & Co., Ltd. (Refractory and Ceramic Works), Raniganj, district Burdwan, Head Office being situated at 12, Mission Row, Calcutta-1, and their workmen represented by the Secretary, Refractory and Ceramic Workers' Union, post office Raniganj, district Burdwan, was referred for adjudication to Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of its publication.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Burn & Co., Ltd. (Refractory and Ceramic Works), Raniganj, district Burdwan, Head Office being situated at 12, Mission Row, Calcutta-1, and their workmen represented by the Secretary, Refractory and Ceramic Workers' Union, post office Raniganj, district Burdwan.

PRESENT: SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate.

For the Union: Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal order No. 2315-Lab., dated the 11th May 1949, I was appointed a Tribunal for adjudication of the above dispute under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The case of the Union is that in December 1948, the Secretary, Refractory and Ceramic Workers' Union, on behalf of the workers of Burn & Co., Ltd. (Raniganj), submitted a charter of demands to the Company and to the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Asansol, on receipt of which there were several joint conferences and ad interim settlement was arrived at. But the same was not formally accepted as the question of marginal adjustments and retrospective effect to be given to some of the demands could not be settled.

Thereafter the Union agreed to accept the aforesaid tentative settlement with certain modifications as will appear from the copies of the letters of the Deputy Labour Commissioner, dated 16th February 1949, to be found in the schedule to the letter of Government reference.

It is alleged that the Union's acceptance as aforesaid was not respected by the Management for over three months and the Union was compelled to serve a strike notice on the 6th April 1949. The management claimed that their revised demands as submitted on the 13th of December 1948 should not be considered as their offer.

Details of the demands will be found in t of the award.

In answer to the written statement workers, Messrs. Burn & Co., Ltd. (Refractory and Ceramic Works), Raniganj, state that the made certain demands as well as modified them from time to time. There is an air of vagueness in the Company's reply—about demands which are impossible to get hold of anything for a clear discussion.

Regarding pay scales and grades, the Company urged that the rate is already very high as compared to what is found prevailing in the industry in the region.

The Management further points out that the per capita productivity of the workers of Raniganj is very low and that the price of refractory linked to the price of steel which is under Government control and therefore, the Company cannot procure a higher price for their goods either with or without retrospective effect.

Issues.

1. Pay scale and dearness allowance for all classes of workers.
2. Pay scale and grade for junior staff.
3. Rate of piece-workers.
4. If the scale of pay and dearness allowance can be granted with retrospective effect from 1948.
5. Overtime allowance.
6. Provident fund.
7. House allowance.
8. Medical aid.
9. Can the employees claim production bonus if so, how should it be calculated.
10. Puja bonus.
11. Provision for Union office.
12. Leave for labourers and staff.
13. Reinstatement of Basudev Ram and Kanailal Roy.

Issue No. 1.—Pay scale and dearness allowance for all classes of workers.

Issue No. 2.—Pay scale and grade for junior staff.

Issue No. 2 is practically included with Issue No. 1. Before I proceed to discuss about issues, I may say that for a long time negotiations have been going on with the Union leaders. The Company and for the last time a settlement has been made on the intervention of the Labour Commissioner on 14th February 1949. Representatives of both the parties verbally agreed to these terms of settlement which is embodied in Annexure B of the report of the Deputy Labour Commissioner Mr. D. Chatterjee.

Both the parties were requested to formally accept the terms of the settlement but instead of formal acceptance, the terms, Sri Bepin Behari Ganguly, M.L.A., Secretary of the Union, wanted again some modifications of the terms of the settlement already arrived at. Accordingly a joint conference was held at the Labour Directorate on 20th April 1949. The Union representatives urged for acceptance of two further issues (1) retrospective effect to revised pay, dearness allowance, etc., and (2) marginal adjustment of the increased pay. The Company's Officer failed to effect a compromise.

I have studied the history of negotiations between the parties at elaborate length in the past and have given a study of the same. It clearly shows that the demands made by the Union are reasonable and in other words, the to make cuts all along the line and the demands gradually were widened and if their point in giving a lengthy account of how, and to what extent they agreed to deviate their position from time to time.

we read the report of several discussions, and negotiations which had been held time to time between the Union representatives and the Company and on perusal of all these, of opinion that the scale of pay and dearness as agreed before the Labour Commission on 14th February 1949 is the most reasonable, just and proper. I, therefore, to fix the wages as follows:—

Labourers.

Boys ... 11 annas per day.
Women ... 13 annas per day.
Men ... Rupee one per day.

Clerical staff.

Minimum pay for clerical staff is fixed at Rs. 55 per month with the following increment and following new grade is introduced. The scale offered by the Company in August 1948 is as follows. I fix some grades for clerical works establishment—

- Rs. 55—3—85.
- Rs. 85—4—125.
- Rs. 125—5—175.

Minimum pay of clerks should be Rs. 55 per month. The question of marginal adjustment in this connection. I order that clerks with less than Rs. 55 per month should be at the scale of Rs. 55 and for every three years of service already put, they should get an increment of Rs. 3 subject to a maximum of Rs. 15 for such special increment.

Dearness allowance is fixed according to the scale of the Engineering Tribunal as follows:—

Pay range.	Dearness allowance.
	Rs.
Up to Rs. 50	... 25
From Rs. 51 to Rs. 100	... 35
From Rs. 101 to Rs. 150	... 40
From Rs. 151 to Rs. 200	... 45
From Rs. 201 and above	... 50

The graded dearness allowance will be applied to all classes of employees including Issue No. 3.—Rate of piece-workers.

The rate will be fixed in such a manner that it will not in any case fall below the wages of Rs. 30 per month. The percentage above that minimum fixed, will in no case be less than 12½ per cent. increment. Piece-rate workers will be entitled to dearness allowance as above over and above the wages fixed.

4.—If the scale of pay and dearness allowance can be granted with effect from 1948.

of wages and dearness allowance in the year 1948.

might not have been any such dispute. Moreover, award is on general principles of law prospective rather than retrospective. Apart from the legal difficulty, the granting of retrospective effect is fraught with dire consequences inasmuch as this may have a severe repercussion on the finance of the Company and consequently on the industry itself. The Company prepares the budget according to the financial year and the price is fixed according to the quota controlled by Government. The cost of production in the past had already been fixed on this data. If retrospective effect to the higher scale of wages and dearness allowance be now allowed, it will certainly be a heavy burden on the finance of the Company. The Company will not also be able to procure a higher price for their goods either now or with retrospective effect. The Management has also brought to my notice that the workers are adopting go-slow tactics and that the number of men employed is much in excess of actual requirement and that the funds at the disposal of the Company do not come up to the estimated cost of replacement of some of the plants which are badly necessary. Considering all the circumstances, I reject the claim to grant retrospective effect of the new scale of pay and dearness allowance.

Issue No. 5.—Overtime allowance.

This is being granted, I understand, by the Company as per provisions of the Factories Act. This should be followed.

Issue No. 6.—Provident fund.

There is already a provident fund scheme by which the Company contributes 8½ per cent. and the employees make similar contribution. The present scheme is working well. As no argument has been advanced to modify the same, no change is ordered.

Issue No. 7.—House allowance.

House rent is increased from Rs. 3 to Rs. 4 per month.

Issue No. 8.—Medical aid.

The existing condition will remain and the Company would make every effort to improve it whenever it is possible. The Company already maintains a doctor at Raniganj. Regarding Lady Doctor, I am not at all convinced of the necessity of the same. No further facility can be awarded.

Issue No. 9.—Can the employees claim production bonus, if so, how should it be calculated.

This is a highly complicated matter and requires an ultra expert to calculate the bonus. The Company, however, has given a copy of the scheme. I accept the principles embodied therein and direct that this scheme be put in force from October or earlier if possible. The copy of the scheme has also been forwarded to the Union. There is, therefore, no necessity of embodying the scheme which is a big document in the annexure to the award.

Issue No. 10.—Puja bonus.

At present this is restricted only to the clerical staff. The Company should pay bonus to the clerical staff on the prevailing scale as is the custom. I simply recommend to the Company that the Puja bonus which is now restricted only to certain sections of the employees may be extended to other classes of workers if, however, funds permit. That will be a good gesture on the part of the Company as payment of bonus only to a particular section of workers is likely to cause industrial disputes. This order relating to extension of bonus to all classes of workers is a mere recommendation.

Issue No. 11.—Provision for Union office.

The prayer is summarily rejected. I do not understand how this can be at all an industrial dispute or how the employer be compelled to make provisions for a Union office. The prayer seems to be in the nature of an ex-gratia demand and as such can only be left to the good sense and discretion of the Company. There cannot be any compulsion on the Company from the Tribunal to make such provisions.

Issue No. 12.—Leave for labourers and staff.

Regarding leave, the Company has already a scheme which is slightly modified.

Monthly paid staff leave rules.

1. Festival leave.—(a) In addition to Sundays, the Works are closed on certain festival days and the total number of such holidays is about 13/14 days annually. These are paid holidays for monthly paid staff.

(b) During and following the Pujas, the staff are to be allowed up to 15 days' leave with pay as annual leave. In case of those who are not local residents, a longer holiday is allowed at the discretion of the Management provided the staff concerned are not in the habit of exhausting their casual leave.

2. Casual and sick leave.—A total of 21 days in a year is allowed to monthly paid staff on account of casual and sick leave with pay. In addition to this, additional sick leave with or without pay is allowed to deserving staff at the discretion of the Management, taking into consideration the length of service of the staff and their record.

Casual leave rules for weekly paid workers.

1. Permanent workers may claim up to six working days' leave without pay each year. Additional casual leave may be granted at the discretion of the assistant in charge of the Works. Casual leave must be taken in rotation as arranged by the Company. Any worker desiring casual leave shall apply to the person in charge of his department, who will prepare a leave ticket, to be signed by the assistant in charge of the Works. Until this ticket has been signed and given to the applicant, leave is not granted—a mere application for leave or extension of leave is not sufficient.

2. The above is in addition to the festival holidays (excepting Sundays) which are notified by the Company under the Factory Act. These holidays do not exceed a total of two weeks and are to be taken without pay.

Other leave rules for weekly paid workers.
Annual holiday with pay—15 days.

Maternity benefit.—According to the provisions of the Factory Act.

In addition, I order that 15 days' sick half pay be granted in a year.

Issue No. 13.—Reinstatement of Basudev Sri Kanailal Roy.

Not pressed. Prayer is rejected.

Summary of the main recommendations.Pay scale of labourers and clerical staff

the Union.

Companies, namely, India General and Railway Co., Ltd., and Rivers Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., under the management of Messrs. Kilburn & Co., and Messrs. Co., respectively, as Managing Agents, workmen as represented by the India Navigation and Railway Employees' Union were referred to me for consideration under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The Government order was as follows:—

As an industrial dispute has arisen between the Joint Steamer Companies, namely, Messrs. Kilburn & Co., Managing Agents of the India General Navigation and Railway Company, Limited, 4, Fairlie Place, Calcutta, and Messrs. MacNeill & Co., Managing Agents of the Rivers Steam Navigation Company, Limited, 2, Fairlie Place, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the India General Navigation and Railway Employees' Union, 4, Fairlie Place, Calcutta, and the Inland Steam Navigation Workers' Union, 48, Harrison Road, Calcutta and it is expedient that the said dispute should be referred to a Tribunal constituted under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the Governor is pleased under sections 7 and 10 of the said Act to appoint Sri Ashutosh Das Gupta, Additional District Judge, to be the Tribunal for adjudication of the said dispute."

Preliminary objection by Dr. Waight for consideration of the order of reference was considered in the order containing two references, as follows:

Whereas an industrial dispute has arisen between Messrs. Kilburn & Company, Managing Agents of the India General Navigation and Railway Company, Limited, 4, Fairlie Place, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the India General Navigation and Railway Co., Employees' Union, 4, Fairlie Place, Calcutta, it is expedient that the said dispute should be referred to a Tribunal constituted under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the Governor is pleased under sections 7 and 10 of the said Act to appoint Sri Ashutosh Das Gupta, Additional District Judge, to be the Tribunal for adjudication of the said dispute.

The Tribunal shall meet at such places and at such dates as the said Sri Ashutosh Das Gupta shall direct."

The second paragraph of the original order of reference shall be read with both the references as specified above."

I decided to take up separately the two references into which the original order of reference was split up. The grounds were fully discussed in the order-sheet (Order No. 9 of 26th April 1948), and the award for the India General Navigation and Railway Company, Limited, under the management of Messrs. Kilburn & Co., has already been published under Order No. 1911Lab of 21st April 1949. I do not propose to repeat them.

Under the original order of reference, this Tribunal was vested with the jurisdiction to adjudicate upon industrial disputes of all employees under the aforesaid Companies irrespective of the Dominion or Province in which they might be employed. A preliminary objection was raised by the Steamer Companies that the Inland Steam Navigation Workers' Union had no right to represent the Floating staff and employees working outside West Bengal; and that this Tribunal had no jurisdiction over demands of the Floating staff and employees working outside West Bengal. When I was about to deliver my judgment on the preliminary point a corrigendum (Order No. 1834-Lab., dated the 4th June 1948) was received from the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, directing the words "in West Bengal" to be read after "their workmen" in the original order of reference. By the last mentioned order, the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, purported to limit the scope of the present adjudication proceedings and thereby to remove the ground of the preliminary objection. This corrigendum, however, gave rise to an additional objection, namely, whether the corrigendum was ultra vires of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department. All these objections were taken up to the Hon'ble High Court. The objections were set at rest by the judgment of the Hon'ble High Court delivered by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Banerji. The decisions were—

- (1) Under the original order of reference, the Tribunal had jurisdiction to adjudicate on the claims concerning workmen at Shore establishment and workmen outside the Province of West Bengal including the Floating staff.
- (2) The Government had power to amend an order of reference made by it and the corrigendum was valid.

This preliminary point does not relate to the dispute between India General Navigation and Railway Co., Ltd., and their workmen as represented by I. G. N. & R. Company Employees' Union, for the said Union do not represent any member of the Floating staff or any workmen working outside West Bengal. The establishment of I. G. N. & R. Co., Ltd. (Sole Account), had no such employees. All its employees were within the Province of West Bengal. The case of the I. G. N. & R. Co., Ltd. (Sole Account), was heard without any objection but the restraint order of the Hon'ble High Court having been directed against both the cases into which the original order of reference had been split up, the award could not be submitted before the application before the Hon'ble High Court was finally disposed of. The award was submitted on 5th April 1949 and published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 28th April 1949 under order No. 1911Lab., dated 21st April 1949, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department. This award was in pursuance of the first part of the reference No. 440Lab., dated the 18th February 1948, as amended by the corrigendum Order No. 1834Lab., dated the 4th June 1948.

I now take up the second part of the reference. Before I proceed to take up the merit of the case, I should do well to discuss the relationship between the two Steamer Companies India General Navigation and Railway Co., Ltd., and Rivers Steam Navigation Company, Limited, and the significance of the term "Joint Steamer Companies". The question has an important bearing on the issue as to whether the Joint Steamer Companies have any profit and loss account distinct from that of the two Companies individually. The term "Joint Steamer Companies" suggests a partnership business but it is not so. The point was discussed as a preliminary point and by order No. 9, dated 26th April 1948, I decided that the two Companies had been carrying on transport business in co-operation with each other without being amalgamated as a partnership business. The I. G. N. & R. Company, Limited, and the R.S.N. Company, Limited, carry on the transport business jointly in the United Provinces, Bihar, West Bengal, Assam and Eastern Pakistan. The two Companies were established respectively in 1844 and 1857 and were both incorporated in England. In 1890, the two Companies started transport business in mutual collaboration and co-operation, without being amalgamated as a Partnership business in the strict legal sense of the term. The transport business of the two Steamer Companies was not registered either under the Indian Partnership Act or any similar Act of the United Kingdom. The mutual collaboration and co-operation was based on verbal agreement or on a gentleman's agreement as it is called. The manner how the business is carried on, as Mr. D. R. Stevens, the Chief Executive Officer of R. S. N. Co., Ltd., pointed out at the hearing is as follows:—

- (1) The two Companies supply their own steamers, and they do not employ the same number of steamers.
- (2) Each Company pays for the repairs of its respective steamers.
- (3) Each Company bears the cost of fuel for running its own steamers and the wages of the crews of its own steamers and the depreciation.
- (4) Earnings of all the steamers are pooled and divided in equal shares between the Companies.
- (5) The wages of the joint staff and steamer stations are borne out of the joint account earnings.

The general field of expenditure has thus been defined into joint and sole account for administrative conveniences without regard to balance-sheet implications. The expenditure on items of common interest to both the Companies in running the transport service is covered by the joint account. This is based on prior consultation and agreement and is necessary for avoiding competition and for maintaining collaboration and common standards. As soon as the earnings are divided between the two Companies after meeting the joint expenditure, there cannot be anything to be called joint profit or joint loss. The earning becomes a separate earning of the two Companies as soon as they are divided between them. Out of these earnings, they defray their separate expenditure, several items of which are mentioned above, and the surplus, if any, is their respective profit and the deficiency, if any, is their respective loss. The Joint Steamer Companies, as the transport business is loosely called, can have thus no separate balance-sheet. Their earnings cannot be their profits, for out of these earnings the more important items of the expenditure, namely, the repairs of steamers, costs of fuel, wages of crews, etc., have got to be met. Without these, the whole business is impossible. For making repairs, for building or purchasing new vessels or for replacement of engines, etc., the Companies have to pay.

ready for the transport service, each maintains a separate establishment, each has its own accounts and under these accounts profit and loss accounts are prepared. The separate profit and loss accounts are maintained by the two Steamer Companies. The joint establishment maintaining and controlling the transport service. The important items of expenditure on the vessels ready for the service are met by the two Steamer Companies individually in any way dealt with by the joint establishment. The joint establishment cannot, therefore, take into account the expenditure on these items and without taking into account of expenditure, profit and loss account is not possible. These items of expenditure are taken into account by the two Steamer Companies individually when they are balanced against their respective earnings. If any consideration of any of the disputes under reference can only look into the separate profit and loss accounts of each individual company, then, not, under the existing terms of the transport service, be any profit and loss account for the business which is carried on by the two Companies in collaboration and co-operation.

The present adjudication will not refer to the Sole Accounts Department. For effecting the transport, the Civil Department, Ghats and Offices maintained for the entire transport have been placed under the control of one of the two Companies. The combined transport of the two Companies or the joint business of the two Companies, if it is so called loosely, the steamers fully equipped are pooled together and ends with the division of the earnings after the actual service and the expenditure in running the establishment for controlling and maintaining the service which does not include the running of the steamers. For collecting fares, for defraying the joint expenditure on running and maintaining the joint transport service and for division of the earnings after meeting the expenditure, the following departments are maintained:—

Inspectors, and Inspectors and Supervisors.

define the scope of the present adjudication before I proceed to enter into the merits of the disputes. The judgment in the High Court is in the following terms:—
"The High Court, therefore, is that I make an order directing the Tribunal to forbear from adjudicating on the disputes which are not covered by order of reference, dated February 18, 1948, as modified by the corrigendum, dated June 4, 1948."

The Hon'ble High Court decided that the corrigendum was valid and binding. Nothing was said, as to whether the demands of the workmen working outside West Bengal were excluded from the jurisdiction of this Tribunal. It is of this fact, contended on behalf of the workmen, that in spite of the corrigendum, the Tribunal can adjudicate upon the demands of the workmen working outside West Bengal. An industrial dispute may be raised before a Tribunal in which a workman whom it may concern in either of the following ways—

1. A workman can raise a dispute concerning himself personally or through a registered Trade Union. This is the direct way of raising a dispute.

2. A workman may raise a dispute through another workman who may place it before a Tribunal either personally or through a registered Trade Union. This is the indirect way of placing a dispute.

3. The procedure have legal sanction. This from the definition of the word industrial given in the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. If the second procedure is adopted, the dispute is one between the employer and the workman through whom it is placed. In this view of the matter, the corrigendum does not affect the jurisdiction of the Tribunal. The workmen who are members of I. S. N. Workers' Union may still raise disputes on behalf of the members of the Floating staff and workmen outside West Bengal. It cannot be said that the whole object of the corrigendum is to curtail the jurisdiction of this Tribunal. The original order of reference, and the corrigendum, was not without any substance. The fact that it was issued clearly indicates that the Government intended to curtail the jurisdiction of the Tribunal. It cannot be presumed that the Government issued an order knowing fully well that it was to be of no effect. In these circumstances, I shall not be justified to interpret the order of reference as amended in the way suggested by the Union. In Industrial Courts which are based on equity, the real substance should not be affected by technicalities. To a common people, an industrial dispute of a workman is a dispute which concerns him directly. The indirect way of placing demands is based on technical interpretation of the word "industrial disputes". The indirect way of placing demands are very different from the corrigendum was issued, the Government had in its mind the common significance of the term and the direct way of placing demands before a Tribunal. The Tribunal which has jurisdiction over an industrial dispute as corrected in the order of reference, can exercise jurisdiction in the light of the intention of the Government disclosed in the corrigendum. It is not put a wider and liberal interpretation so as to go against the real intention of the Government. I hold that the present adjudication is confined to disputes relating to and concerning workmen of the Steamer Companies in West Bengal. Various other disputes were raised before the Tribunal and the Tribunal has decided them. I am not going to deal with them.

The next question is whether members of the Floating staff should also be left out. Under the terms of the reference as amended, this Tribunal has jurisdiction to deal with the demands of the members of the Floating staff who are in West Bengal. It has been contended on behalf of the Steamer Companies that the members of the Floating staff are not employees of the Company. Masters or serangs and drivers in steamers are employed by the Company but these serangs and drivers work with their own crews. When serangs and drivers are discharged, they take away their crews with them. These crews are appointed and discharged by the serangs and drivers. The serangs and drivers take charge of the steamer and for any act of omissions and negligence the Masters are held responsible. The point was discussed at length in Order No. 34, dated 19th June 1948. This point appears to have been raised also before the Hon'ble High Court. The crews are paid from the bill of the Steamer Companies. The intention of the whole arrangement is to place the entire responsibility on the Masters and drivers, so that they may exercise full control over the crews and may not shift their responsibility by saying that the crews are uncontrollable. There is thus full industrial relationship between the crews and the Company except for the purpose of appointment, discharge and disciplinary action. I have accordingly jurisdiction to adjudicate on the disputes raised for the Floating staff in West Bengal. The Hon'ble High Court also held that for the sake of efficiency, the Masters and drivers have been given the power to employ and dismiss the Floating staff. The exigencies of the business in which vessels of Steamer Companies may have to be taken through rivers far away from the place where the Head Office of the Steamer Companies are located and when instructions from the superior officers are not available demand the crews to be placed entirely under the control of the Masters and drivers. The Hon'ble High Court rejected the contention of the Steamer Companies on this point. The question is whether in view of peculiar system of transport business of the two Steamer Companies, I should leave the demands of the Floating staff outside the present adjudication. It is not a question of law but a question of expediency. The total strength of the Floating staff under the two Companies is about 16,000. Out of which, 57 are members of the Inland Steam Navigation Workers' Union. I am told that other members of the Floating staff are members of the Bengal Mariners' Union which is a registered Trade Union and is still functioning and has been carrying on negotiations with the Steamer Companies for a long time. Recently there has been an agreement between the Steamer Companies and the Bengal Mariners' Union. This was in April 1949. In view of the agreement between the Steamer Companies and the Bengal Mariners' Union which represent the majority of the Floating staff, it will be inexpedient for me to entertain disputes concerning a very small section residing in West Bengal and represented by Inland Steam Navigation Workers' Union. The same view was taken by the learned Adjudicator in the case between the management of the present Steamer Companies having agencies at Digha and Monghyr and operating within the province of Bihar, and the members of the Mazdoor Union, Digha. The whole object of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, is to establish peace in an industry. I can enter into the merit of the demands of this small section of the Floating staff residing in West Bengal, only if I can lay down terms and conditions of service as appeared to me to be equitable, without any regard to what has been agreed upon by the Bengal Mariners' Union. If the terms which I may lay down are less favourable than those agreed upon by the Bengal Mariners' Union, the dispute will be existing with the result that further improvement will not be available for the workmen for the period for which the award will remain in force. If I give more favourable by the terms of reference as amended by the corri-gendum already referred to. I have also left outside this adjudication the Floating staff (not the flat and steamer clerks) on the ground of expediency, although the I. S. N. Workers' Union has right to represent the Floating staff before this Tribunal.

An act has been passed for dealing with the question of recognition and a different Tribunal is likely to be set up to deal with the question.
This point is accordingly left outside adjudication.
It may however be mentioned that the Companies have already recognised the present Union as representative of the employees of the Joint Claims Department, Joint Traffic Audit Department including Statistical Department and the Calcutta ghats and that they have assured this Tribunal that they have no present intention to withdraw the recognition.

Point No. 3: Jurisdiction of the Tribunal over (a) Demands of the Floating staff and employees working outside West Bengal; (b) Discharge of employees and reinstatement of the discharged employees particularly of the two junior assistants; (c) Claim of the Union for higher rates of pay of the workers with retrospective effect.

(a) The employees working outside West Bengal have already been excepted by the present reference as already discussed. Although this Tribunal has jurisdiction to adjudicate upon the demands of the Floating staff and the steamer and flat clerks, such demands as relate to the employees who work in floating steamers with the exception of steamer and flat clerks have been left outside the present adjudication on the ground of expediency. I have already held that the flat and steamer clerks are not Floating staffs. Those of the flat clerks and steamer clerks who are in West Bengal come under the present adjudication.

(b) This point has been finally decided by the Hon'ble High Court and the Hon'ble Federal Court. This Tribunal which has been constituted under sections 7 and 10 has wide powers to deal with the question and to direct reinstatement.
The Union also demands reinstatement of some assistants who are said to be officers (not clerks).
That officers (not clerks) are not workmen within the meaning of the word as defined in the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, is not disputed. But the Union of the workmen can raise a dispute concerning an officer. This is clear from the definition of "Industrial dispute" which is as follows:—

"Industrial dispute" means any dispute or difference between employers and employers, or between employers and workmen, or between workmen and workmen which is connected with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or with the conditions of labour, of any person."

The word "any person" is elastic enough to include an officer. An officer cannot himself raise an industrial dispute and demand his own reinstatement before an Industrial Tribunal. But the dispute relating to and concerning an officer may be taken up by a workman or for a matter of that by a Union of workmen, if it is a dispute of the workmen for it is then an industrial dispute. This is permissible under the Law as it stands to day and the Tribunal can assume jurisdiction of such a dispute when it is placed by the Union of workmen. In all cases, the Tribunal will consider the question of expediency.

The point is also answered in the award for higher rates of pay is also with the conditions of labour. Such higher rates of pay may in suitable cases be given retrospective effect by the Tribunal. This does not offend the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947. Section 19(3) of the Act defines the operative period of the award and this period is fixed by the Government. The award cannot be enforced before the date to be specified by the Government for enforcement of the award and it loses its value on expiry of the operative period fixed by the Government. If any relief is allowed to employees with retrospective effect, so much of the relief as is due under the award prior to the enforcement of the award by the Government is a debt due by the employers to the employees. Such a debt is payable only when the award comes into operation. A similar question was raised before the Hon'ble High Court in the case of Messrs. Roberts Maclean & Co. The Hon'ble High Court held that a direction for retrospective effect does not vitiate an award. It may be noted that only such relief as can be equated to money value can have retrospective effect.

In dealing with the question of jurisdiction of the Tribunal, I have given my decision in the abstract. In all matters, the Tribunal is to consider the question of expediency and comparative hardship on each point, notwithstanding the fact the Tribunal has wide powers.

Points 4 and 5: Scales and rates of pay and fitting the salaries of the workers in the proposed new scales and Dearness allowances.

Our idea is to lay down similar grades and terms of service for comparable employments in all the industrial concerns in West Bengal specially in Calcutta, as far as practicable. Care is taken to maintain the existing system of grading the employees as far as possible. Although some of the employments have the same nomenclature and responsibility, intensity of work varies, as these depend upon the distribution of works and other factors peculiar to each firm. Our idea is to conform substantially to the same grades and scales, but deviations have got to be made for some having regard to the existing grades and scales and other service conditions in those firms. Care is taken that in laying down revised service conditions the internal management of the Company is not rudely disturbed.

Job valuation and valuation of competency of employees for particular jobs which are essentially at the basis of grading are the exclusive functions of the employers. It is not possible for the arbitrator, on a short inspection of a big concern, to correctly assess the value of a particular job and the merit of a particular employee, especially when such jobs have acquired some technical significance or connotation, peculiar to the industry. My primary duty is to fix the minimum basic salary for a clerk who belongs to the middle class and for a member of the subordinate staff who belongs to a status in society just below the middle class. I cannot but accept substantially the gradings which the employers have fixed for employees of different classes. The employers have allowed some differentials to some of the jobs, having regard to the degree of efficiency and responsibility required. This is how different grades were introduced. The gradings are the result of long experience of employers in their industry. Any interference is likely to bring in more discontent among the employees. It cannot be doubted that the employers expect good and efficient service from their employees, and it is presumed that they do fully appreciate that anything short of proper price of labour is likely to create unrest. It is also presumed that the employers tried their best to pay proper price for the labour, having regard to their resources. What has created unrest among the employees is that on account of the abnormal rise in the price of essential commodities, the employees fail to make both ends meet. Attempts are being made from time to time to give reliefs to the workmen in the shape of increment of basic salary and dearness allowance. But such reliefs are based on the index figures of a past period. When there has been further rise in the index, undoubtedly the employers find difficulty to meet the situation. The discontent of the employees can never be removed before there is a steady fall in the price of the essential commodities. Drastic interference is called for only when the employers are anxious to raise the target of their profits at the cost of the labour.

The gradings in the Steamer Companies do not appear to be grossly unfair. A word may be said here and there, but the gradings are substantially fair. As I have already noted, my primary duty shall be to fix the fair minimum wages and dearness allowance for the employees of the two main classes—clerical and subordinate staffs. In fixing the fair minimum, I must not forget to maintain the differentials in the jobs requiring higher responsibility and higher efficiency. Thus while fixing the minimum wage scale, I shall have to fix the scales of the higher grades as well.

Existing A grade Rs. 100—5—150 (E. B. 10—200) may be compared with the common grade A and B of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme prior to the award (Grade A—Rs. 150—10—200 and Grade B—Rs. 100—5—150). The Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme was adopted by the I. G. N. & Ry. Co., Ltd. The main difference between the existing A grade of the Joint Companies and the combined grades A and B of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme is in the matriculation and the rate of increment in the lower section. I do not propose to interfere with the constitution of this grade. A combination of two grades is sometimes more beneficial to the employees than two separate grades. Promotion from one grade to the other may require higher efficiency than what is required to cross the efficiency bar when the two grades are combined together with efficiency bar in the middle. If we compare the existing grade A with the pre-award grades A and B of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme, necessarily the existing grades B and C may be compared respectively with the pre-award grades C and D of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme. The existing grades B and C are more favourable than the comparable grades of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme prior to the award. The Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme was substantially adopted by the I. G. N. & Ry. Co., Ltd. We modified the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme by allowing some increments both at the start and at the end of each grade.

The joint Steamer Companies have a very large number of employees and any increment in the wages scale of the employees is likely to tell heavily upon their resources. In fixing the wages, the question as to what would be the minimum living wage plays an important part. But consideration of financial ability of a firm to bear the burden which increment of the wage scale is likely to cause does not play a less important part. A heavy burden may bring in disaster to the employees rather than give them any relief. Any burden which is not in keeping with the financial ability of a firm is likely to make it collapse, with the result that hundreds and thousands of men would be unemployed in a very short time. Whatever increment may be allowed is likely to react upon passenger public. In fixing wage scale of the employees of a transport business care must be taken to keep within the limits of the financial resources of the company as also of the purse of the passenger public. Considering these factors I recast the grades as follows:—

Special grades—

(1) From Rs. 250 and upwards. (Ceiling and rates of increment are left to the discretion of the employers.)

(2) Rs. 140—5—200 (E. B.)—10—250.

Grade A—Rs. 110—5—170 (E. B.)—10—230.

Grade B—Rs. 85—5—150.

Grade C—Rs. 70—4—90 (E. B.)—5—140.

Grade D—Rs. 70—3—100.

Grade DD (D grade for ghats)—Rs. 60—2—100.

Grade E—Rs. 45—2—60.

Sub-Agents of Calcutta Ghats are given Grade A. Sub-Agents of Falguchi and Jangila Ghats are given up-country B grade shall only under C grade mentioned above. Audit Inspectors of Calcutta shall get Rs. 140—5—170 (E. B.)—10—230. There being only one T. B. Inspector, I do not lay down any grade for him. Staff of T. B. Inspectors are given up-country B grade 10 and the ceiling is Rs. 140—5—170. The steamer clerks shall get Grade B. The different workmen, I inspected the Jangila Ghat where I was told by Bibhuti Bhattacharya, a flat clerk, that he was a matriculate but at the time of appointment he had represented that he was a non-matriculate. It is abundantly clear that the Companies take matriculates for the post of a flat clerk. Bibhuti Bhattacharya would not have got the job if the Companies had known that he was a matriculate. The whole idea is that the parties are not willing to appoint a man with more qualifications than what is required for the job for which the man is required. This very wise policy and this policy is adopted a view to keep off discontent among the employees as far as possible. Under the circumstances Bibhuti Bhattacharya is entopped from getting any higher rate of pay on the ground he is a matriculate. We are to fix the pay the job and not for the man. If he has the abilities he may prove that by his works thereby be entitled to promotion to a higher grade. Flat clerks of the joint Steamer Companies appear to have had some such promise in the past. Two instances were cited at hearing (Munshi Abdul Bari and Mr. Munsurali). These were not refuted. clerks and steamer clerks shall be entitled proof of higher efficiency to promotion to the higher grades earmarked for jobs requiring higher efficiency and ability. It may be noted this connection that in the award for I. G. N. & Ry. Co., Ltd., I laid down the grades and scales of pay for all members of clerical staff including the flat clerks. For flat clerks, however, the Company was given discretion to decide on proper valuation of jobs, whether it will retain all the grades A, C, D, or dispense with any of them. For flat clerks, I must admit that the award based on a misconception of the duty of a clerk. The nature of the duty of a flat clerk was not then clearly explained to me. This Union could understand and soon after the award was published, the Union came to settlement with the Company and it was agreed that the flat clerks will come under the grade Rs. 45—2—60. This is the Grade E of present award. The present system of grading the stenographers, typists, comptometers, adding machine operators and telephone operators upheld.

I have laid down a grade for assistant cash and postmen. This is Special Grade 2. senior-most clerks in this grade shall be Cashiers. They shall be entitled on proof of special efficiency to promotion to the Special Grade No. 1. In the award for I. G. N. & Ry. Co., Ltd., I directed that sectional heads book-keepers in important departments should be placed in the special grade and in other departments in Grade A. The Sectional Head of a department is sometimes called the Head Clerk. Sometimes a department is split up into sections and the head of each section is called a section-holder. This is not a section-holder in the technical sense of the term. The duty of a section-holder or Head Clerk is supervisory work. They are responsible to the Manager of a firm for the management of the workers of their respective departments to whom the principal work is assigned. It is not raised to the status of a section-holder because he has some control over the work of other men in the department. His work, however, is not supervisory in the technical sense of the term. The duty of a section-holder or Head Clerk is supervisory work. They are responsible to the Manager of a firm for the management of the workers of their respective departments to whom the principal work is assigned. It is not raised to the status of a section-holder because he has some control over the work of other men in the department. His work, however, is not supervisory in the technical sense of the term.

of all the papers of the department held responsible for the works of the employees of the department who may assist the junior with his advice and instructions. But hereby raised to the status of a section-head Clerk. Sectional heads in departments shall be placed in the grade and in other departments in Grade II be the duty of the employers to place of the departments are important are Head Clerks of extra efficiency. In small departments, may be placed as one section-holder or Head Clerk. I propose to lay down separate grades and pay for employees doing different works in departments, for, in the absence of materials, it is not possible for me to place the different jobs properly. This is left to the discretion of the employers with this in view that in placing the clerks in the grades, the Company should not, to the detriment of any clerk, deviate from the practice followed. In grading different departments, the Companies shall see that the grade of a clerk as basic salary and future increments are not in any way prejudicially ent within the grades shall be given to employees on proof of normal efficiency. The Company is not agreeable to the Union's having a say in the matter of such increment. The Company is the best judge of the industry and it is desirable that the Union should have no say in matters of recruitment, increment of pay or promotion. Consultation with the Union has no advantage and disadvantage. The views of the Union do not seem to be obstructive. It is not known if the view and policy will change with the change of personnel, nor are we in any rival Union with obstructive views. If the Unions are helpful, the employers will naturally consider the interests of the industry, the Unions matters. I do not propose to lay down any rule on this point, for, any rigid rule is to fetter the free will of new recruits and is not entitled to promotion. It can hardly be expected that the Union will recommend one who although highly qualified refuses to join it than one who although less qualified gives his word to join the Union. I may be permitted to observe that right claimed by the Union is not a matter of course with- out consideration when it is not found helpful. Union demands depends in the feelings of trust and confidence. It can neither be obtained by decrees or command. It is by the Tribunal on this point is to nurse more grievance and bitter a careful consideration of pros and cons and the demand of the Union for a joint consideration of the claims of the employees to

of the Union that each employee receive seniority within the grade in which he has been placed according to his years of service. This is quite unreasonable. Like commercial firms, there were no scales of pay till recently. Each and every took service under the Company and accepted the post, the pay offered must have been considered adequate for the time being. There have been a cry of late few years that the pay was not commensurate with the cost of living. The price of essential commodities has risen and the cost of living has increased. The present grading system is not based on the cost of living but on the cost of living in 1947. The present Companies must have been labouring under the same mistaken idea and I firmly believe that the present Company must have made some allowance for house rent, but it has not been labouring under the wrong idea. House rent allowance had been taken into account

Company contributed substantially to the efficiency he had acquired when the grading was introduced. It is neither possible nor practicable for me to say at this stage anything about initial efficiency of an employee when he was appointed. I am not, therefore, in a position to decide in which grade a clerk could have been appointed initially. Besides, it is absurd to think that whatever improvement is introduced for the benefit of the employees could be given effect to 20 or 30 years back. The benefit which is extended to the employees is related to the conditions obtaining at the time when the benefit is given. It is not practicable for me to ascertain the conditions existing 20 or 30 years back. If each and every benefit is to be extended with retrospective effect so far back as 20 or 30 years, most of the commercial concerns are bound to collapse. I do not accordingly find any substance in the demands of the Union. The clerks appear to have been given some seniority in the grades in which they were placed in 1947. The Union submitted a list of clerks who are said to have been prejudicially affected by the adjustment of pay made at the time when the new grading was introduced. I have examined the list very carefully and I find that the following cases deserve reconsideration of the Company:—

Name.	Length of service in 1946.	Assumed calculation of seniority.	Rate of pay.	Grade.	Remarks.
			Rs.
1. Bejoy K. Mitra	23	4	74	C	Starting salary of Grade C was Rs. 60.
2. Sanat K. Banerji	20	3	70	C
3. Kshetra M. Mookerji	19	4	75	C
4. Nirmal C. Chatterji	17	3	70	C
5. Ajit K. Roy (1)	10	3	70	C
6. Bejoy B. Dutta	11	Nil	65	B	Starting salary of Grade B was Rs. 75.
7. Bimal K. Chakrabarty	4	Nil	68	B

It has been pointed out that Narendra N. Dey, Madan Mohan Manna, Satya R. Das, Dharendra N. Ganguly and Promode R. Chatterji who were initially in D grade were promoted to grade C but were given only increments of Rs. 2 each in 1949. These are according to the statements of the Union. The Company will examine the cases of these employees and shall rectify the defects, if any.

The Bengal Chamber of Commerce attempted to fix the minimum salary of a clerk on a calculation of what would have been the cost of living for a middle class family. It had prepared a scheme which was based on certain figures compiled by the periodical "Capital" about the pre-war cost of living of a middle class family and the rise in the cost since then. We had occasion to look into the investigation of the "Capital" on this point in the case of Bengal Chamber of Commerce. The "Capital" fixed Rs. 60 as the minimum basic salary of an employee belonging to middle class. It made no allowance for accommodation mainly on the idea that the clerks live mostly in their own houses. Even assuming that the clerks live in their own houses, the houses have a letting value and require periodical repairs and municipal tax has to be paid. In calculating fair living wage, cost of accommodation must be taken into account, without reference to the private property of the employee, if any ancestral or self-acquired. In 1947 the demand of the employees for house rent was rejected by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce on the ground that this had been taken into account in fixing the salary. In this view, the Bengal Chamber of Commerce appears to have been misled. The present Companies must have been labouring under the same mistaken idea and I firmly believe that the present Company must have made some allowance for house rent, but it has not been labouring under the wrong idea. House rent allowance had been taken into account in fixing the minimum salary at Rs. 60. We think that Rs. 10 would have been proper accommodation allowance to an employee of the middle class in 1939. We accordingly raise the basic salary for an ordinary employee of middle class to Rs. 70 on the cost of living index in 1939. I have adopted this view here also. And I have increased the minimum salary of each of the Grades A, B, C, D by Rs. 10. Grades DD and E are prescribed for some sub-normal clerks, i.e., for those employees who although belonging to the middle class cannot expect to get on account of their lower educational qualifications, the same salary which an employee with normal education is likely to get. Grades DD and E may be called sub-normal grades. To fit in the members of the existing clerical staff I lay down the following rules:—

(1) Each and every member of the clerical staff irrespective of the grade he is in or the length of service he has put in shall get a flat increment of Rs. 10.

(2) If despite such increment any clerk is below the minimum of the revised grade in which he has been placed he shall be pulled up to the minimum.

(3) If by such increment any clerk is in between two stages of the grade in which he has been placed he shall be pulled up to the next higher stage.

(4) In view of the fact that the case has been pending, for unforeseen reason for a pretty long time, the employees shall be given the benefit of the increased pay with effect from 1st January 1949. These adjustments shall be made on the salaries of the employees which they get after the annual increment due on 1st January 1949.

(5) The cases which have been recommended to the Companies for scrutiny shall be examined by the Company and the mistakes rectified within a month of the publication of the award. The clerks shall be paid what would have been due to them on correct calculations with effect from the date from which the new grading was given effect to, and annual increment shall be given on the figures arrived at after correction of mistakes. The mistakes in this connection shall be rectified and the proper salary of these clerks shall be determined before giving them the flat increment of Rs. 10 as directed above.

(6) The flat increment given by this award by way of adjustment of the members of the existing staff into the revised grades and scales shall not debar the employees from getting the usual annual increments.

Probationers shall get the minimum salary of the grade to which they are appointed and Sircars, if any, shall be appointed to Grade DD or E according to his efficiency, ability and nature and responsibility of the job.

For the subordinate staff under the Companies with the exception of electric mistries and assistant mistries, the minimum total emolument is Rs. 60. This is considered sufficient. The minimum basic salary is however too low. This has been compensated by a liberal dearness allowance. Although the total emoluments do not call for any increment, I feel that the basic salary is too low. The minimum basic salary should be pulled up to Rs. 30. Head durwans at Ghats and motor drivers shall get an increment of Rs. 5 to their basic salary and all other members of the subordinate staff with the exception of electric mistries and assistant electric mistries shall get a flat increment of Rs. 10 and an adjustment shall be made by a corresponding deduction from the present dearness allowance. I lay down the revised grades and scales for subordinate staff as follows:

Duffins and Reavers—Rs. 32—1—35
1—45.

Head Durwans in Head Office as Durwans at Ghats—Rs. 45.

Head Durwans at Ghats—Rs. 50—1
Motor drivers—Rs. 75.

I leave electric mistries and assistant mistries outside the present adjudication shall get such remuneration and dearness as have been awarded by the Engineering Future recruits with the exception of mistries and assistant electric mistries at less than Rs. 30 per month. Where on cost of living index the dearness allowance class of employees is Rs. 30 or less, it is reduced as suggested above by way of for any increase in the basic salary.

Although I feel that the present altered wages and scales of pay may affect the position of the joint Companies, I adopt them in view of the fact that at similar grades and scales of pay are being in the majority of the Commercial establishments of Calcutta. The grades and scales in comparable industries are the most guiding principles in revising the grades and in settling industrial disputes on the Dearness allowance: for clerical and employees in Head Offices in Ghats at Dearness allowance is paid according to Bengal Chamber of Commerce scheme for clerks and the steamer clerks and the and peons at Palashguchi and Talgola dearness allowance according to the scales, according to which minimum allowance is Rs. 30.

T. D. Inspectors and Audit Insps dearness allowance at the Calcutta or rates dependent upon the station at which posted. I uphold the existing scheme of allowance subject to the modification of way of adjustment of the increment of salary of the members of the subordinate staff. The present dearness allowance shall be in the case of the members of the subordinate staff by the amount by which their basic moon has been increased, care being taken that dearness allowance does not, on the principle of cost of living, go below Rs. 30 and the members of a permanent member of the staff do not go below Rs. 60 on the principle of the cost of living.

It may be noted that the employee has the right to stop increment of pay of an employee within the grade by way of punishment. The entire procedure for punishing an employee will have to be gone through. In such a case the employee concerned shall be served with the written charge against him and he shall be given sufficient opportunity to defend himself and to defend himself.

Points 9 to 8 and 13: City Allowance and Flat clerks; Increment of City Allowance for Audit Inspectors; and Urban allowance for workers and Audit Inspectors, Steamer and Floating allowance for Floating Insps.

No City allowance is paid to the clerks. The Audit Inspectors are not entitled to it when they are in Calcutta. They receive it when on duty. Calcutta clerks when on duty receive it. They do not receive it for his accommodation at headquarters.

clerks accepted their appointments with knowledge of the conditions of their employment. The basic salary of the steamer and flat clerks has been substantially reduced. Their demand for any extra allowance is not entertained. The I.G.N. & Ry. Co., do not pay any such allowance to the flat clerks. There is a very small section of flat clerks and steamer clerks in West Bengal and the section of employees which is in Calcutta is still basic salary for Audit Inspectors is much higher than that of an ordinary employee of similar status. In addition to this basic salary, Audit Inspectors get Re. 1 per diem as an allowance. The higher salary together with this allowance is considered sufficient compensation for Audit Inspectors.

Dak durwans get in addition to their usual dearness allowance a khoraki allowance of one round trip with an additional allowance, according to the following rates, when they arrive at their destination:—

less than 6 hours' late—nil.
more than 6 hours but less than 12 hours' late—annas.

more than 12 hours' late—Re. 1.

When employed to carry dak to Barisal-Gauhati, it is held that a Dak durwan returns from Gauhati on the 3rd day in the afternoon. In modification of existing rates, I lay down the following:—
Re. 1 for each day or part of a day not less than 12 hours for absence from the headquarters. Eight annas for part of a day not less than 6 hours.

In calculation of this allowance, a day shall be taken to begin at zero hour at midnight and to end at 12 in the following midnight. No further allowance for late arrival need be paid.

For the other employees, the basic salary and dearness allowance are quite liberal and I do not intend to award any extra allowance for them.

The demand for running allowance for the staff is left outside the present adjudication. I get from the report of the Central Pay Commission that in a railway drivers, shunters, guards, brakemen and augwallahs are the running staff. These correspond to the drivers and serangs of the steamer. As no allowance for these people has been left out, I do not intend to entertain the demand for running allowance. It may however, be noted that Indian staff, masters, drivers, serangs and others are given travelling allowance to attend court cases, enquiries and for journeys on transfer, according to the following scales:—

For all clerical staff, masters, serangs and drivers up to a maximum of Rs. 2-12 per month.

For all others up to a maximum of Rs. 2-4 per month.

Allowances are for board and lodge. All actual expenses, railway fare, gharry fare, are paid by the Companies.

9: Free Quarters or Home Allowance.

Quarters are only provided in Calcutta for certain persons whose work requires them to live on the spot. The home allowance is given to other employees. In assessing the cost of accommodation, the Government has taken into account the cost of accommodation in 1939. The Government has granted liberal home allowance to its employees. The Royal Commission recommends that the education of industrial workers should receive some may note in this connection that I inspected the accommodation of durwans at Juggernath Ghat as also at the T. T. Sheds. At Juggernath Ghat a room about 126 ft. long with 8 windows and two doors has been allotted to 94 durwans. The room is wide enough to accommodate two rows of beds. The accommodation is not insufficient. At the T. T. Shed, the accommodation appeared to me to be rather insufficient. I was told that the durwans' rooms were within the Port Commissioner's area, where building of additional rooms is not permitted. Some solution must be found out and I must recommend that the joint Steamer Companies do move the Port Commissioner for some additional accommodation. In any case I recommend that some solution may be found out at the earliest possible time.

Point 10: Free Tiffin.

Free tiffin is not allowed to members of the clerical staff and subordinate staff. Now that we have given the employees reasonable fair salary, the Union's demand for free tiffin is rejected. I may only recommend that attempts be made to start a canteen to enable the employees to get tiffin either at cost price or at a price lower than the market rate. In course of adjudication of the disputes for the mercantile firms in Calcutta, we found that in a very few firms there was a system of allowing free tiffin or tiffin allowance to employees. Such concession was considered ex gratia and was left outside adjudication, except where free tiffin or tiffin allowance was given to compensate overtime work. The question does not arise here. At the Armenian Ghat, there is a tiffin room for clerical staff and an outside contractor sells tea and light refreshment. At Nimtolla Ghat, there is no tiffin room, but staff obtain their refreshment from tea men and sweet vendors just outside the ghat. There is a tiffin room at T. T. Sheds and the provision of a tiffin room at Juggernath Ghat is under consideration. I may recommend that if accommodation is available some space should be set apart and partitioned for a tiffin room and some items of furniture may be supplied.

Points 11 and 12: Children education allowance, Marriage allowance.

Education of children is a duty of the State rather than a duty of the employer. My attention has been drawn to certain observations in paragraph 79 at page 52 of the Report of the Central Pay Commission—

"Tentatively we would suggest that the State might contribute 75 per cent. of the tuition fee in the case of children of class IV employees and 50 per cent. of the fee in the case of the children of class III employees, subject to a limit of Rs. 100 salary per mensem."

The recommendation of the Central Pay Commission to the Government is not applicable in private concerns. The recommendation was made to the State which happens to be the employer. In this connection, I may refer to the Rege Report, pages 361-362—

"Like the problem of medical facilities, that of educational facilities also raises a question of principle, viz., to what extent can the employer be held legally or morally responsible for the education of his workers and if he is to be held so responsible, for what types of education. Broadly speaking, it is a proposition which will be readily acceptable that education as a whole should be a responsibility of the State."

The Royal Commission recommends that the education of industrial workers should receive some attention and that employers should try to develop the education of their workers' children in their factory schools and that local bodies and employers should co-operate in creating special facilities for the education of workers' children. We are not sure, however, that provision of educational facilities could be imposed upon employers as a matter of policy. As in the case of medical facilities, if any employers actually do provide such facilities they must be considered as merely gratis.

The basic salary and the dearness allowance have been fixed on the assumption that the employee is married and has a wife and children. They are not accordingly entitled to any separate marriage allowance. I accordingly reject the Union's demand for children's educational allowance and marriage allowance.

Point 17: Servant's allowance.

At the hearing the Union pressed for allowance for a servant of the Audit Inspector. We are told that the actual travelling allowance is paid for a servant of the Audit Inspector. I should recommend that if the Audit Inspector is required to carry bulky records he should either be allowed the services of a bearer of the Companies or shall be paid the actual coolie hire for carrying the records. I am not inclined to allow any allowance for a servant.

Points 14, 15, 16 and 18: Puja and Id Bonus for 1947 and 1948, Centenary Bonus and Independence Bonus.

Independence and Centenary Bonuses are ex gratia matters and cannot form part of the service conditions. I understand that the Joint Companies offered some bonus to their employees to commemorate the Independence Day. But the employees refused such bonus on the ground that there had been unfair differential treatments. I may note here that the Union should not consider the separate establishment of the two Companies which are called Sole Account Departments as part of the establishment to which they belong. About the Centenary Bonus, the I.G.N. & Ry. Co., Ltd., allowed some bonus to the employees of a Sole Account Department in 1944 on completion of 100 years. As I have already stated the two Companies combined to carry on the transport business in mutual co-operation and collaboration only in 1890. Since then 100 years have not elapsed. This joint transport business having not as yet completed 100 years of service, the demands of the Union for Centenary bonus for employees of the Joint Account Department cannot be entertained. In any view of the case, the Union's demand for Centenary bonus and Independence bonus cannot be entertained. I may however recommend that some payments be made to the employees to mark the Independence Day of 1947. Such payments should be proportionate to the salary of the employees. It may be noted that in the charter of demands which was submitted before the Joint Steamer Companies on 15th October 1947 there was no demand for Independence or Centenary bonus.

Annual bonus or profit-sharing bonus are no longer considered as ex gratia payments. The ancient ex gratia theory no longer finds favour with Industrial Courts so far as such bonus is concerned, and there has been, in recent years, a growing recognition of workers' claim to bonus in industrial concerns. I do not propose to discuss at length the legal position of the claim which has been advanced in the award of the Cotton Textile Industry. The only just and equitable principle which an employer may be called upon to apply in the award of bonus is the contribution of profit made by the employees and the management.

the efficiency of the industry or injury to business in any vital matters. It is clear, first, that bonus is dependent on the prospective business concerned. The Union demands at least 3 months' basic pay as bonus to all employees irrespective of the profit or loss of the Company. This demand seems to be quite unreasonable. We have looked into the profit and loss accounts of two Companies up to 1947. The balance for 1948 have not been completed. There is addition to the General Capital Reserve these years. There was slight addition to Reserve Fund under the heads Fleet Replacement and Workmen's Compensation Reserve. We find that during the war there had been a run on the steamers and some of the steamer even lost and disabled. It was argued on behalf of the Union that heavy amounts were set against depreciation and reserves. In the absence of any material as to what would be the cost of replacing the disabled steamers or repairs of steamers and for providing additional steam places of those that have been lost, it is not possible to say definitely that the Company set apart undue share of the earnings under the "Depreciation and Reserve". It cannot be denied that the persons who invested money in the industry should get a fair return for the money. Dividend at the bank rate of interest is not sufficient for the money invested. The facts that the investors took a heavy risk must always be in mind. The learned Advocate for the Union referred me to the report of the Committee on Profit Sharing Bonus published under the authority of the Ministry of Industries and Supply, Government of India, to support his contention. Heavy amounts were set apart by the Joint Steamer Companies against depreciation and reserve. This is applicable to the industries in general and is applicable to transport business by rivers and canals. An unexpected storm in the mid-stream led to about unexpected loss to the industries. Provision must be made to meet such losses. According to the report referred to above and relied on by the learned Advocate for the Union, 6 per cent of the Capital employed augmented by 50 per cent of the surplus profit would enable the Company generally to declare a reasonable dividend. If the investors get a fair return for the money invested having regard to the risk involved in the investment will be extremely shy and industries will gradually wound up (not to speak of expansion of industries). In my opinion, if there is a profit in any year, a reasonable portion should be set apart for reserves and depreciation. By profit I mean the net profit. Out of the balance, attention should be made to set apart 6 per cent of the capital employed for return to the investors. If anything is still left, that shall be distributed among the investors and the employees proportionately. The total annual remuneration paid to workmen as basic wages and dearness allowance shall be considered as the value of the labour employed. Bonus payable to an employee shall be (the net profit in a particular year minus depreciation, reserve, provident fund and other items) like importance minus 6 per cent of the Capital employed divided by (the total value of labour in the year plus Capital employed) multiplied by (the value of labour of the particular employee). If the result of the division stands for the terms referred to above, the bonus payable to an employee shall be calculated arithmetically as indicated below.

Net Profit - (D + R + P.N. + Impor- Value
Value of Labour + Capital
Capital employed 6 per cent. Capital employed. employed. employed.

For 1947, I do not allow bonus for 1947. For 1948, profit and loss accounts are complete and bonus is payable among the employees.

and the profit as is available under the formula. The total amount available for bonus shall be distributed to employees in proportion to their wages and dearness allowance. I may mention in this connection that the financial position of the I.G.N. Co., Ltd. (Sole Account), was not in any way more favourable when I was awarded for the said Company (Sole Account) than when I was awarded for the said Company (Sole Account). What prompted me to award bonus to the officers and subordinate employees was the existing treatment between the officers and employees. The officers of the I.G.N. Co., Ltd. (Sole Account) used to get some commission which had been in the past to officers in addition to their salary since been discontinued, but a good deal of it was consolidated with their basic salary. The commission which was to be based on the profit was always a fluctuating amount. But on the basis of a good portion of the commission basic salary stabilised the benefit which has been contingent. But I am told that in the past Accounts, none but the agents get commission and this commission is limited to the minimum and Rs. 100 as the maximum. This is given as an incentive to keep the agents at their maximum and to canvas for traffic as possible. Thus the commission is given to the agents for some works in addition to their routine duties. Thus the circumstances were present in the case of I.G.N. Co., Ltd. (Sole Account), and which prompted me to award bonus to members of the said subordinate staffs are absent here. As to do away with unjustified discrimination between officers and other employees directly connected with their respective duties of the Companies. The Company shall pay bonus for 1943 and subsequent years to workmen according to the principle laid down above.

Point No. 19:

(a) Service conditions.

and for appointment of a joint committee for dismissal and discharge of workmen on the grounds already discussed. The Company has printed rules entitled "Labour Rules" which deal mainly with enquiry, suspension or dismissal and the major offences justifying fines under the Payment of Wages Act. There are provisions for when charge being framed against the employee.

opportunity being given him to defend himself and cross-examination of witnesses and a warning after the employee has been charged for which the warning is given. The rules were supplemented by a resolution of 26th November 1944 under which the employee warned to be taken into consideration of the Register as an indication of the employee concerned was fully aware of the warning. Provision has also been made against the note of warning. The employee is to be fairly explained the warning and the security of service of the employee, it that the following may be

1.—The employee who is recommended for dismissal who holds a permanent position in the Company shall be given a final order of dismissal.

Rule 28.—Before an employee is awarded the extreme punishment of dismissal after three warnings, the ordinary rules for inflicting such extreme punishment shall be observed. If after three warnings, he is discharged, he shall not get any compensation.

In suitable cases instead of inflicting the extreme punishment, the following forms of punishment may be awarded:—

- (1) Promotion to higher grades may be stopped either permanently or for a fixed period;
- (2) Increments within the grade may be stopped either permanently or for a period;
- (3) An employee may be demoted.

In awarding these punishments, the procedure of framing a written charge, an opportunity being given to the employee concerned to answer the charge and to defend himself shall be observed.

Habitual absenteeism without leave and without justification and inefficiency not corrected by warnings and persistently wilful negligence will justify punishment in any of the aforesaid forms, having regard to the facts and circumstances in each case.

Retrenchment.—In matters of bona fide retrenchment, last come first go shall be the usual rule. Deviations from this accepted principle is permissible in consideration of comparative efficiency of the employee, their conduct and other factors. In all cases of retrenchment, the permanent employees who are monthly paid shall be given one month's notice or one month's wages and dearness allowance in lieu of such notice and the daily rated workers shall be given one day's notice or one day's wages and dearness allowance in lieu of notice. When retrenchment is called for those who have attained the retiring age or have completed the minimum qualifying service for retirement, whichever is earlier, shall at the first instance be made to retire. This deviation from the accepted principle shall always be made, for such cases are not contemplated by the aforesaid principle. At the time of fresh appointment, retrenched employees shall get preference, other things being equal. It must be noted that in re-employing retrenched employees it is only efficiency and ability that counts and not the principle "last come first go."

(b) Confirmation of temporary workers after three months.

The Companies appointed some food-shop clerks and statistical clerks as temporary hands. At the time of these appointments, it was felt that food rationing might come to an end at any time and the works on statistics required by the Government during the war would cease with the cessation of war. Now that rationing and statistical works are to continue for some time, the Companies have already decided to confirm these clerks of this category who have completed 3 months' service and to place them in D grade. They shall be entitled to all the benefits available to the D grade clerks under this award. The Company will have the discretion to give these clerks some seniority in the grades according to their individual efficiency. If there is any menial in this department, they shall likewise be gradually absorbed in the permanent cadre.

(c) Abolition of contract system of labour by contractors.

The Company have engaged two Contractors—Messrs. H. L. Peral & Co. for supplying of scale coolies at Pugganah and Armenian Ghat and Dalm Ghat.

- (2) Messrs. Bird & Co. for unloading goods between sheds and the vessels.

The scheme for carrying on different works in an industry is the exclusive function of the employers. If really the scheme is not more advantageous, the employers would not have adopted it. The Tribunal cannot take the responsibility to direct otherwise. If the workmen under these Contractors-Companies are in any way aggrieved they may place their demands before their direct employers and the Contractors-Companies may move the Steamer Companies for enhancement of their rates. It has not been suggested that the payments made by the Steamer Companies are in any way unfair.

A system is also prevalent under which the Head Durwans engage the durwans subordinate to him, and the serangs and drivers appoint the crews. This system is sanctioned by the exigency of the business. The Head Durwans, serangs and drivers are held responsible for the faults of the subordinate durwans and crews. The system was introduced for exercising effective control on the durwans and the crews in the interests of the persons and properties of the public who travel and send goods by the steamer service. I cannot abolish any of these systems. But it shall be the duty of the Companies to check corruptions in the working of the system, if any.

(d) Abolition of Unpaid Probationers in the permanent service.

The Companies do not employ any unpaid probationers. Instructions are said to have been issued some time ago that no unpaid probationers shall be employed. Unfortunately one case was detected and orders were duly issued to rectify the mistake. This refers to Munshi Khalilur Bahaman Khan. He has been deemed to have been a probationer and he shall be dealt with as all other probationers.

(e) Abolition of the system of employing temporary hands.

No rigid rule can be laid down on this point. Temporary hands are necessary when there is temporary rush of work as also when work of a temporary nature have got to be executed. Temporary hands may be employed for a limited period to execute works of an essentially temporary nature likely to be finished within a limited period, or to meet a temporary heavy rush of the normal works. But after completion of such works, if such employees are retained for regular works, they shall be absorbed in the regular staff either as probationers or as permanent hands according to the respective skill, ability and length of service put in by each. The period worked as temporary hands shall be credited against the probationary period necessary for confirmation. It is to be understood that after completion of the temporary work for which an employee was originally engaged, he may be employed for other temporary works. But attempts shall always be made to absorb in the permanent staff one set of temporary hands and to employ a fresh set for fresh temporary works.

The Companies are agreeable to pay the grade of the man for whom another man provided the period of officiating is not less than one month.

There is also no bar in the rules to clerk being promoted to officers' grade. In fact there has been such promotion in the past. It is not possible to lay down any rigid percentage of officers' posts to be filled by promotion of clerks to officers' grade. They shall be left to the discretion of the employer, presumed that whenever a suitable man is available from among the clerks, the Company takes him in the officer's grade. This is to create a healthy atmosphere in the staff. I may enunciate, for consideration of the Companies, some principles for promotion from one grade to other and from the clerical to the officer's grade—

- (1) Seniority should usually be respected.
- (2) Senior man should be passed when he is not considered for such promotion;
- (3) Suitability of a man for such promotion depends upon—
 - (a) Present efficiency;
 - (ii) Past record both about conduct and efficiency of works;
 - (iii) Health at the time of promotion;
 - (iv) Period he has yet to serve before retirement. If a higher job has time programme, a man's retirement may not be expected to complete the programme;
 - (v) Nature of the job. There may be jobs which may require young men rather than experienced men.

Points 20, 21 and 22: Working Hours, Allowance, Leave Rules.

The Union's demands are that 44 hours a week should be the maximum working time that in case of clerical duties, the duty should be 7 hours at a stretch with a break of half an hour. The Union demands two flat clerks alternatively in each flat and that all clerks like flat clerks should be given compensatory leave for Sundays and gazetted holidays in addition to the leave demanded for all men in general.

Overtime allowance has been demanded at the following rates:—

- (a) Day-time—One and half days' addition to usual pay.
- (b) In a holiday—Double the day's addition to usual pay and the demand that no employee shall be asked to work extra time for more than two days in a week.

In my opinion the working hours for clerical staff are quite fair. Any extra payment of overtime to clerks is likely to lead to lethargy. It is promised that none of a day must be finished within the day. In view of the peculiar nature of the work in River Transport business, depending as it does on tides and Railway timings and other reasons beyond the control of the employers, the hours of arrival and departure of the employees at the Ghats and T. T. Sheds may be altered provided total hours do not exceed the limit awarded and the total hours are not split up with intervals longer than the usual midday recess. The employee shall be entitled to overtime payment only when he is called upon to do any additional work, and such overtime allowance is payable only when the Departmental Head so certifies. This principle shall also apply to sweepers, bearers, duffries and peons. For allowance for overtime work on week days under circumstances discussed above, for members of the clerical staff, and for sweepers, duffries, bearers and peons, I lay down the following rules:—

(1) If any clerk or a member of the subordinate staff mentioned above is detained beyond the scheduled hours under orders of the departmental Heads, he shall receive extra payment at 1.25 times the normal rate of wages calculated per hour. Half an hour or part of an hour over half an hour shall be taken as one full hour and part of an hour less than half an hour shall be ignored. It follows that no employee shall be entitled to any overtime for less than half an hour. For works after midnight, overtime allowance shall be paid at double the normal hourly rate.

(2) For working on Sundays and holidays, I think that a substituted holiday for each Sunday or holiday worked is sufficient compensation to the employees. The Central Pay Commission has discouraged extra payment for Sundays and holidays except where there is special strain or prolonged employment during night where such employment is frequent. Those who are employed on Sundays and holidays very frequently shall get double of their normal pay (that is one extra) for Sundays and holidays worked without any substituted holidays. Those who are employed on three Sundays or holidays or more in a month shall be deemed to have been employed frequently during Sundays and holidays.

(3) By terms and conditions of service, Durwans are to be on duty for 24 hours. They may however arrange among themselves for some off-time, provided works do not suffer.

(4) Peons residing in Office-premises: The Peons of this class shall not be entitled to any additional overtime allowance in consideration of the housing benefit they have been getting.

(5) Motor Drivers: The works of the Motor Drivers shall be distributed in such a way that they are not actually detained for more than 8 hours a day, on each of the week-days—Monday to Friday and 4 hours on Saturday. If their services are so required during any interval, they should be permitted to leave the Office. Such intervals shall be scheduled on the Notice-Board of the Company at least 24 hours, and if possible 48 hours in advance. If he is detained beyond the aforesaid hours he should receive extra payment at 1.25 times the normal rate of their wages per hour. Part of an hour less than half an hour in a day shall be ignored. And half an hour and more shall be treated as one full hour. For Sundays and holidays overtime work shall be paid at double the normal hourly rate.

Employees shall be entitled holidays under Negotiable Instrument Act shall be observed. Head Office as also in the Ghats subject to agencies of business. The durwans and the Durwans, by terms and conditions of their are not entitled to such holidays. Sub-Agent by some intelligent arrangement avail them of much more off-time than the clerks in the Office.

I do not propose to lay down any separate rules for the Sub-Agents. The existing rules for the employees at the Head Office the Ghats shall stand. The Inspectors, flat c steamer clerks and Sub-Agents shall get 30 leave on full pay for each completed year of a cumulative up to 60 days; and sick leave 15 days for each completed year of service on pay. They shall not get any other leave.

It may be mentioned that in the award I. S. N. & Hy. Co., Ltd., I allowed more leave to the flat clerks. I was then labouring under a conception about the works of flat clerks. parties could understand that and they appear have agreed to 30 days' privilege leave on full for each completed year of service cumulative to 60 days and 15 days' sick leave on half pay.

In modification of the existing rules for bination of leave of different kinds and holidays lay down the following:—

(1) Casual leave shall not be combined any other leave or holidays.

(2) If circumstances compel an employee take casual leave in continuation of holidays, holidays shall be debited against casual leave provided the total period of casual leave holidays subsequently converted into casual leave do not exceed casual leave at the credit of employee concerned. If the total period exceeds such limit the casual leave, and not the holidays shall be converted into privilege leave and debited as such.

(3) If privilege leave or sick leave is taken in continuation with casual leave, the period of casual leave shall be converted into privilege leave or sick leave as the case may be.

(4) Privilege leave, sick leave and holidays usually be combined subject to the provisions if holidays intervene in between leave of either description privilege leave or sick leave, holidays shall be converted into privilege leave or sick leave as the case may be and debited as such.

Point 23: Change of Designation.

A change is said to have been made in the following designations:—

Designation up to July 1946	Designation from Aug 1946
Checking clerks	Shipment Register Checkers.
Weigh clerks	Weigh man.
Invoice Clerk	Invoice writer.
Packing clerk	Outward register writer.
Forwarding Note Register	Forwarding Note gister writer.
Pointer clerk	Pointer.

Part 34: Welfare Activities.Safety of Uniforms to workmen.

Union demands uniforms for Booking Ticket Collectors, Durwans, Bearers and clerical workmen both for the summer or seasons. The Union submitted a demands before the Companies on 15th 1947. There was no mention of this in the charter of demands submitted on 1st 1947. Without going into the legal aspect on this point, I would recommend, in the interests and the prestige of the Companies, uniforms to Durwans, Bearers and Peons. Clerks, Ticket Collectors and similar who deal with the public should also be given uniforms with the Companies' badges as a mark of distinction so that the public may know who they are. This will avoid resistance by the public when they are charged with the performance of duties by these employees.

Arrangement for supply of drinking water, lavatories, etc.

Management shall see that drinking water is available to the employees. At Jugger, I found the tank reserved for drinking was empty. If supply of filtered water for drinking is insufficient, the management should arrange for sink tube-wells or get drinking water delivered and store it in reservoirs which shall be refilled every day. The management shall also make an arrangement for lavatories which shall be kept thoroughly cleaned.

(c) Furnished tiffin rooms.

Management has already dealt with this point.

Institute or Clubs for recreation.

At present I am not inclined to give a decision on this point. I however recommend that attempts should be made to set apart a room for the employees to meet during off-time. If the room is sufficiently commodious it may be used for the time being.

Food, cook, fuel, etc., for the running staff.Running room for the running staff.

Demands are rejected. I, however, recommend that sufficient sleeping accommodation be provided for all members of the running staff so that they may take rest during off-time.

Retirement and Retiring Benefits: Provident Fund scheme. Gratuity and Pension. Compensation for old group of workers who do not get benefit in the award.

Companies have their rules for retirement and Provident Fund. For the sake of uniformity, I direct that the existing rules shall be modified in the light of the following provisions:

(i) There shall be compulsory retirement of the employees of the Companies of all categories on or after the age of 60 irrespective of the length of service with the Companies.

(ii) In the absence of service certificates or in the absence of service certificates, a declaration by the employee shall be considered as proof of the age of the employee.

(iii) Employees who have already retired but are still in receipt of a pension shall be considered as employees for the purpose of the award.

(4) An employee shall be given an extension only in exceptional circumstances in the interest of the industry concerned. An employee shall be permitted to retire voluntarily usually after completion of 30 years, even though he has not completed 60 years of age, or earlier on medical grounds.

(5) Existing gratuity scheme of the two Companies do not appeal to me. I make the following alterations in the scheme:—

(a) Calculations of gratuity shall be made at $\frac{1}{2}$ month's salary for each completed year of service from the very beginning (confirmation) subject to a maximum, in the case of a clerk, of 15 months' salary and, in the case of a member of the subordinate staff, 12 months' salary in the whole service, calculated at the rate of salary last drawn by the employee concerned.

(b) The payment shall not be left entirely to the discretion of the Companies.

(c) Gratuity shall be payable to the employees under the following conditions:

(i) On the death of an employee while in the service of the Companies or on his physical or mental disability to continue further in service— $\frac{1}{2}$ month's salary for each completed year of service subject to a maximum as aforesaid to be paid, to his heirs or assignees or to the disabled employee as the case may be.

(ii) On voluntary retirement or resignation of an employee after 20 years— $\frac{1}{2}$ month's salary for each completed year of service subject to a maximum as aforesaid.

(iii) On termination of service by the Companies or completion of 10 years of service or over— $\frac{1}{2}$ month's salary for each completed year of service but not more than the maximum as aforesaid.

(iv) No portion of the employers' contribution to the Provident Fund shall be deducted to make up the gratuity.

(v) No employee dismissed for misconduct shall be entitled to any gratuity.

(6) Contributions to the Provident Fund on both sides (by employees and employers) are raised to 8½ per cent. of the basic salary of a clerk; and to 6½ per cent. of the basic salary of a member of the subordinate staff. The existing scheme shall be modified as indicated below:—

(i) Provision shall be made, if not already made, to pay the full contribution of the Company to an employee, if termination of his service is occasioned earlier than the minimum service qualifying an employee to the employers' contribution in full, by his death, or his resignation, or dismissal by the Company on the ground of illness, old age or accident caused in the service of the Company.

(ii) A Rule should be added to make it clear that an employee whose services are terminated before the minimum period, by retrenchment of staff, shall be entitled to the full contribution of the Company with interest.

The Provident Fund scheme of the Company with a contribution on either side of 8½ per cent. of the basic salary of an employee together with gratuity scheme as modified by this award is considered sufficient provision for old age. The Union demands in addition to Provident Fund Pension for an employee. I reject the Union's demand for Pension.

No additional compensation is possible for old group of workers as claimed by the Union. They will undoubtedly get the benefit of the gratuity scheme laid down in this award.

Point No. 27: Medical Aid.

The Companies have some arrangements for giving medical aid to their employees. I do not propose to enlarge upon them. Medical facilities of the people in general are responsibilities of the State. The employers are called upon to make special arrangements where there is a risk of the employees contracting some disease peculiar to the industries. There is no such suggestion here. The employees of the Steamer Companies are not denied such facilities as are available to the people in general from arrangement made by the State. Although I do not propose to enlarge on the existing arrangement, I would advise the Companies not to discontinue the existing arrangement and I would recommend further that whatever improvement is possible in the existing system shall be made. If a part-time Doctor attends any office, his attendance should be duly notified, so that each and every employee who needs his assistance may avail himself of it.

Point No. 28: Reinstatement of discharged workmen.

In the written statement, the Union demanded reinstatement of 32 employees mentioned in Schedule F annexed to the written statement. At the hearing, the Union pressed for reinstatement of only sixteen of them. The relevant particulars are given below:—

Name.	Designation.	Date of appointment.	Date of dismissal.
Mihirlal Adhikari	.. Statistic clerk	7-9-45	1-2-47.
Harikumar Banerji	.. Invoice clerk	15-9-45	1-2-47.
Krishna Kumar Banerji	Ditto	24-4-46	1-2-47.
Gour Das Pal	.. Posting clerk	24-12-45	1-2-47.
Anil Chandra De Tapadar	Ditto	24-12-45	1-2-47.
Anathbandhu Pal	.. P. C. Manifest clerk.	24-4-46	1-2-47.
Sukamal Banerji	.. Checking clerk	24-4-46	1-2-47.
Pronobesh Chatterji	.. Ditto	1-11-45	1-2-47.
Rabindra Ghosh	.. Ditto	13-5-46	1-2-47.
Radhakanta Das	.. Markman	24-12-45	1-2-47.
Sunil Kumar De	.. Ditto	1-7-46	1-2-47.
Umesh Chandra Kanjilal	Invoice clerk	9-10-24	1-2-47.
Chandra Mohan Ojha	.. Durwan	1-1-40	30-5-47.
Dindoyal Oja	.. Ditto	8-3-45	30-5-47.
A. E. Platts	.. Godown Asst.	June 1944	1-9-48.
Gopal Chandra Mukherji	.. Weigh clerk	Nov. 1919	29-4-48.

Of these 16 persons, Rabindra Ghosh is said to have since been re-employed. Of the remaining fifteen, Mihirlal, Harikumar, Krishna Kumar, Gour Das, Anil Chandra, Anath Bandhu, Sukamal, Pronobesh, Radhakanta, Sunil Kumar, Umesh Chandra, Chandra Mohan and Dindoyal were employees of the Nimtolla Ghat. I have already stated that for administrative control Nimtolla Ghat is under the control of Indian General Navigation and Railway Co., Ltd. The Delta Despatch Service was transferred from the jurisdiction of Nimtolla Ghat to the jurisdiction of Juggernath Ghat which is under the control of River Steam Navigation Co., Ltd. This change was made in January 1947. It was because of this change, these 13 men were retrenched. Of these 13 men, the two last-mentioned employees, viz., Chandra Mohan and Dindoyal were durwans and Umesh Chandra who was an Invoice clerk was made to retire, although he had put in a little over 22 years of service. It was suggested on behalf of the Union that the transfer of the Delta Despatch Service from Nimtolla Ghat to Juggernath Ghat was designed to curb Union activities at Nimtolla Ghat. It has been suggested that the Superintendent at Nimtolla Ghat had a hostile attitude towards the Union. My attention was drawn to this

There was an incident at Nimtolla Ghat to dispossess of some durwans and forcement of the jamadar. The matter came up for adjudication. In that case an attitude towards the Union prompted the Superintendent to make some discrimination employees who were not members of the Union and employees who were members of the Union. Each case shall be decided on its own merits. In the case referred to above, I had to reinstate the discharged employees on the ground that the discriminatory treatment not warranted by the evidence on record and amounting to unfair practice. The question necessarily arises in the present case whether the 13 men of Nimtolla Ghat were discharged for Union activities or for some other reason. It is not clear from the evidence whether the Delta Despatch Service was transferred from the jurisdiction of Nimtolla Ghat only to discharge these 13 employees. The person who purports to represent all the workmen of the Offices and the Ghats at Calcutta. The person is that all the employees at Nimtolla Ghat are members of the Union. There is no show that there was any member of the Union who was not a member of the Union and that he retained in service, nor is there anything that these 13 men took a leading part in the activities. Nor is there anything to show that any of these persons held any important position in the Union. They are said to have been discharged on 1st February 1947. The incident at Nimtolla Ghat which was the subject matter of another case took place on 17th February 1947. The Company held an enquiry and in the enquiry Sri Anath Dutta, Cashier of Nimtolla Ghat, President of the Nimtolla Section of the Union and Sri Krishna Kumar Nandi, clerk of the same Ghat and Vice-President of the Central Committee of the said Union were by the Superintendent to watch the proceedings of the enquiry in their official capacity. At that time when 13 members of the staff at Nimtolla Ghat were retrenched, Sri Anath Dutta, Krishna Kumar Nandi who were important bearers of the Union were in the service of the Companies. Although the Tribunal has powers to direct reinstatement of discharged employees, it has become almost a convention of the Industrial Tribunals not to interfere where there is unfair labour practice or victimisation. Under the Common Law, the employer can terminate service of contract and the Law Courts have no jurisdiction to direct reinstatement. They can however award compensation when the dismissals are found wrongful and unlawful. The Labour legislations including the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, aim to give relief to the workmen in this direction. It is not for the Industrial Courts to interfere where the dismissal is an instance of unfair labour practice or victimisation, the onus is on the workmen to prove that their discharge was in such circumstances as justify intervention by the Industrial Courts. In this particular case, the Union has suggested definitely what the unfair practice was. The workmen are said to have been discharged because the Superintendent at Nimtolla Ghat had a hostile attitude towards the Union. It may be noted that while it is for the employers to discharge their workmen on account of their union activities, the Union cannot make any employee immune from the ordinary incidence of service. The Delta Despatch Service is said to have been retrenched from Nimtolla Ghat. It was under the control of Juggernath Ghat for a very short time. The fact that a suspicion that the employees from Nimtolla Ghat only were discharged by way of victimisation is not supported by mere suspicion. It would be a small section of the Companies in the small section.

Mr. Platts was appointed in June 1944 as probationer. Probationary was usually granted after three or six months but Mr. Platts signed in January 1945 and was released after his probationary period had expired before me I had then been Supervision.

Both Mr. McCarthy and Mr. Platts were at this circular but they went away to the J Station for some tea and tiffin. Both Mr. McCarthy and Mr. Platts have been examined before. Their evidence is that by mutual arrangement between them, Mr. Platts took leave to go at about 11-30 p.m. in the afternoon and that going home he went to Howrah Station. Mr. McCarthy followed him to the Howrah Station. Hardly they had finished taking tea, a man came to the Howrah Station to call them. He came to the Ghat. Mr. McCarthy has given a claim for reinstatement. He now takes the entire blame on him. Mr. Platts appears to have addressed a letter to the Labour Commissioner. Nothing was said in this letter that by arrangement with Mr. McCarthy, he took leave to go home. I quote below the relevant portion of his letter—

"I now come to the Hazara incident of 28th November 1947. The Superintendent gave Mr. McCarthy orders at 4 p.m. that the steamer Hazara must complete loading the same day which, according to the estimation, would be due 9-30 p.m. after normal working hours (6 p.m.) orders were given him in this connection. At about 6-30 p.m. I decided to go to Hewrah station and have some sandwiches and tea. Mr. McCarthy accompanied me and instructed the Head Clerk and Jamadar that he would return within an hour."

The statement of Mr. McCarthy and that Mr. Platts had, by mutual arrangement Mr. McCarthy, taken leave to go home on the pretext of an after-thought. Mr. could understand that he had no way abandoned his demand for his own reimbursement that when he was not entitled to any money to help Mr. Platts. If Mr. Platts taken leave from McCarthy to go would have mentioned the fact in the letter to the Commissioner. Mr. Platts main reason for his conveyance allowance. The fact that officers staying after 6-30 a day for conveyance allowance. In the case of his attendance on the 26th of March, 1901. If really he was of a different opinion, I fail to understand the statement in the Diary up to the 26th of March and simple. He of the 26th of March is not acceptable to the

It has been demanded in the charter of demands that the flat clerks should not be made without pay and allowance when they are not posted or at the time when the vessels are sent for docking or when the vessels are placed as receiving flats. No issue was framed on this point. I do not propose to give any award on this demand. But I should recommend that when an employee including flat clerks and steamer clerks is transferred from one station to another or from one vessel to another he shall receive full pay and dearness allowance for the time occupied in the journey beginning from the date of making over charge of his previous post and ending with the taking over charge of the new post. They shall also get the usual travelling allowance but when they are forced to involuntary unemployment, they shall get compensation according to the Government of India Letter No. L. 1891 of 12th June 1944, as modified by letter No. L. 1891 of 20th February 1946. The benefit to be given for involuntary unemployment shall be 75 per cent. of the ordinary rate of pay for the first fortnight of unemployment; 50 per cent. of the ordinary rate of pay for the second fortnight. The period shall be one month in half year. No benefit will be given in the half-yearly period of January to June or July to December, unless the number of days of involuntary unemployment has exceeded

SUMMARY.

1. Order of reference interpreted as a composite order containing two references—

PART IV.

Section 1.—Traffic signals to be used by the Police and Drivers of Vehicles.

(A) Police constables.

1. The following signals will be used by all Police Constables engaged in the regulation of traffic. They are intended to cover the ordinary situations which arise in traffic control, but it is recognised that other signals may be required for abnormal situations or owing to the peculiar layout of particular road junctions. Any such additional signals should be clearly visible to the drivers for whom they are intended, and unmistakable in meaning; they should not conflict with the principles set out in the "Notes for drivers" below, and should as far as possible be modelled on the corresponding signals given below.

2. To indicate "Road Clear" and "Proceed".—Constables on traffic duty should also note that it is as much their business to indicate "Road Clear" as it is to prevent accidents by stopping an on-coming vehicle when that is necessary. When, therefore, the driver of an approaching vehicle has signalled the direction in which he wishes to go, the Constable should always respond with the appropriate signal whether "Proceed" or "Stop".

(B) Drivers of vehicles.

1. Drivers, once they have been stopped by a Constable, should not move on until he signals to them to do so.

2. Signals Nos. 1 to 4 are specially illustrated to show how in a simple instance they apply to the drivers for whom they are intended. It makes no difference if, as will often happen, the Constable's other arm is engaged in another signal.

3. Drivers should be specially careful to distinguish the "Proceed" signals intended from those intended for other traffic. This should be indicated by the Constable looking in the direction. In particular, they should not mistake the "Proceed" signal which applies to a driver whom the Constable's back is turned.

POLICE CONSTABLES.

"Stop" Signals.

No. 1.—To STOP a vehicle approaching front or from either side, the Constable at squarely towards it and extend his right hand at full length above the right shoulder the palm of the hand towards the vehicle.

The signal should be continued until vehicles which are to be stopped have been to a standstill or until the available road is blocked with stationary vehicles. The Constable should then continue to face squarely in the direction of the vehicle, but the hand may be lowered, or other signals.

Drivers of vehicles which have been stopped should not proceed until so directed by the Constable.

No. 2.—To STOP a vehicle approaching behind, the Constable should extend his right arm horizontally from the shoulder, and hold the back of the hand towards the vehicle.

The Constable should see that the signal is observed and obeyed (if necessary, he should turn his back on the vehicle and use Signal No. 1) before continuing his back on the vehicle. Other serious accident may result.

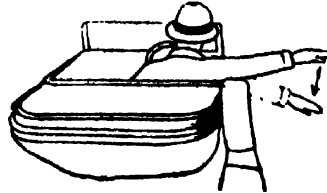

The Constable's arm should be kept extended as long as his back is turned to the vehicle or until the vehicle has been stopped, unless it is required to signal to other traffic.

Drivers of the vehicles, which have been stopped, should not proceed until so directed by the Constable.

(A) SIGNALS TO DRIVERS OF OTHER VEHICLES.No. 1.—“I AM GOING TO SLOW DOWN”.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 1970F./F/1R/14(10)/49.—10th October 1949.—In exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (2) of section 241 of the Government of India Act, 1935, the Governor is pleased to make the following rules, namely:—

1. (1) These rules may be called the West Bengal Civil Services (Safeguarding of National Security) Rules, 1949.

(2) They apply to all persons serving in connection with the affairs of the Province whose conditions of service are regulated or are liable to be regulated by rules made by the Governor under sub-section (2) of section 241 of the Government of India Act, 1935.

2. In these rules,—

(a) "Government servant" means any person to whom these rules apply;

(b) "Head of a department" means any authority who is the head of a department for the purposes of the Bengal Service Rules, Part I; and

(c) "the competent authority" means—

(i) in relation to a Government servant appointed by a head of a department or by an authority subordinate to a head of a department that head of the department; and

(ii) in relation to any other Government servant, the Governor.

3. A Government servant, who, in the opinion of the competent authority, is either reasonably suspected to be engaged in subversive activities, or is associated with others in subversive activities in such a manner as to raise doubts about his reliability may—

(a) if in permanent service, be compulsorily retired from service; or

(b) if in temporary service, be discharged from service:

Provided that a Government servant shall not be so retired or discharged as the case may be, unless the competent authority is satisfied that his retention in the service is prejudicial to the national security.

4. Where, in the opinion of the authority, there are reasonable grounds for believing that a Government servant is to compulsory retirement or to discharge under rule 3, it shall—

(a) by order in writing, require the Government servant to proceed on such leave as may be admissible to him and fix the date as may be specified in the order;

(b) by notice in writing, inform him of the action proposed to be taken in respect of him under rule 3;

(c) give him a reasonable opportunity of being heard in respect of the action proposed to be taken against that action;

(d) before passing a final order under rule 3, take into consideration any representation made by him in this behalf.

5. Nothing contained in Parts XII and XIII of the Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules or in the Subordinate Services (Discipline and Appeal) Rules shall apply to or in respect of any action taken under these rules.

6. (1) Any person compulsorily retired from service under clause (a) of rule 3 shall be entitled to such compensation, pension, gratuity or other fund benefits as would have been admissible to him under the rules applicable to his service on the date of such retirement if he had not been discharged from service on account of the action of his post without any alternative employment being provided.

(2) Any person discharged from service under clause (b) of rule 3 shall be entitled to one month's pay at the rate last drawn by him on the date of his discharge.

Explanation.—"Pay" in this sub-rule has the same meaning as in clause 28 of rule 5 of the Bengal Service Rules, Part I.

7. (1) A Government servant may appeal against an order of the Governor under rule 3 being an order of the Governor, compelling him or discharging him from service.

(2) Every such appeal—

(a) shall contain a full statement of the matters and all arguments relied on by the appellant, shall be complete in form, and shall be free from scurrilous and improper language;

(b) shall be submitted to the competent authority within thirty days from the date of the receipt by the appellant of the order appealed from or within such further time as may be allowed by the competent authority on cause shown to its satisfaction; and

(c) shall (save as provided in rule 8) be forwarded by the competent authority to the Governor.

(3) The Governor shall pass such order as he thinks fit on every appeal forwarded to him under clause (c) of sub-rule (2).

8. (1) An appeal under rule 7 may be heard by the competent authority (not being the Governor)—

(a) if it fails to comply with the provisions of clause (a) or clause (b) of sub-rule (2) of rule 7; or

(b) if under these rules no appeal lies; or

(c) if it is a repetition of a previous appeal and no new facts or circumstances are adduced which afford grounds for reconsideration.

9. Where an appeal is made under rule 7, the appellant shall be informed of the result of the appeal.

ANNEXURE.

PRESENT: SRI MATISH CHANDRA BANERJI,
District Judge, Industrial Tribunal, Calcutta.

Industrial dispute between the Management of the Kinnison Jute Mill, Titagarh, and their workmen represented by Kinnison Jute Mill Workers' Union, Titagarh, in connection with the cases of Bhaganias, Salik Saha, Ram Keshwar and Ishaque referred to by Government in their No. 4021Lab., dated 6th November 1948.

AWARD.

The Government of West Bengal, in the Department of Labour, by order No. 4021Lab., dated 6th November 1948, referred, under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, the dispute between the Management of the Kinnison Jute Mills, Titagarh, and their workmen represented by the Kinnison Jute Mills Workers' Union, Titagarh, in connection with the cases of Bhaganias (also called Bhagmonias), Salik Saha, Ram Keshwar and Ishaque, to me, as the Tribunal for adjudication. Notices were issued on the parties who filed written statements in their respective cases. Issues were framed on 1st June 1949 and the case was heard on 29th August 1949, 30th August 1949 and 31st August 1949.

The hearing of the case was stayed from 30th November 1948 to 4th May 1949, pending decision of the question of the Tribunal's jurisdiction to direct reinstatement of discharged workmen by the Hon'ble Federal Court, New Delhi, in appeal against the orders of the Hon'ble High Court in Calcutta passed on 24th September 1948, in the application regarding Indian Paper Mills Co., Ltd., versus The Indian Paper Mills Workers' Union and other analogous applications.

The four persons named above were workmen attached to the Stock-towing (Punishing) Department of the Kinnison Jute Mills at Titagarh. They were discharged by the Company on 17th March 1948. The reasons for their discharge were as follows:—

the Union with a bad grace and resorted to various practices to torpedo it. On 17th March 1948 Mr. Charles Wishart, the Overseer of the Finishing Department, entered the department enquired as to who were the members of the Union. All workmen kept silent except a Ramdaiya by name, who stated that she was a member of the Union and was determined to be so in the future. On hearing this the Overseer Mr. Wishart flew into a rage and hit Ramdaiya with a fist blow on the cheek and kicked her on the buttock, necessitating her removal to B. N. Bose's hospital at Talpookur, and her confinement there for about a week. On 18th March 1948, four workmen (1) Bhaganias, (2) Saha, (3) Ram Keshwar and (4) Ishaque, who were important workers of the Union, were present in arranging medical relief to Ramdaiya on 18th March 1948, and were important witnesses to the assault on her.

The Union on the facts set out in its statement claimed that the four workmen Bhaganias, Salik Saha, Ram Keshwar and were discharged by way of unfair labour by the Company and that they should be reinstated and paid emoluments for the period of their forced non-employment.

Ramdaiya filed a complaint for assault against Mr. Wishart on 24th March 1948, before the Magistrate at Barrackpore. Mr. Wishart was convicted under section 323, I. P. C., and sentenced to a fine of Rs. 150 only and in default of payment of the fine, to rigorous imprisonment for a month. Out of the fine, it realised, was directed to be paid to the complainant, Ramdaiya. Mr. Wishart was acquitted on appeal and his conviction and sentence was set aside by the learned Sessions Judge Parganas.

The Company in its written statement set out most of the allegations of the Union and set out the story leading to the dismissal of the four workmen as follows:—“On 17th March 1948 the Overseer (Mr. Charles Wishart) of the Finishing Department in the Kinnison Jute Mills on the occasion to reprimand and warn official Sardar, Salik Saha, for bad work. This was resented, and at about 4-30 p.m. the Overseer was supported by a crowd of workers led by a man named Bhagmonias surrounded the Overseer demanding that the warning-card be withdrawn. On the Overseer refusing to do so, some of the workers threw stones at him and while he was blinded he was assaulted in a cowardly manner. On the following day after consulting with the Mill Panchayat and with the approval of the members, four persons were dismissed for their behaviour and assault. No legal action was taken against these people as experience has shown that it is extremely difficult to obtain evidence from among workers in cases of this nature.

The Company therefore submits that the four persons Bhagmonias, Salik Saha, Ram Keshwar and Ishaque were guilty of assault on Mr. Wishart on 17th March 1948, within the meaning of the law and for that reason they were dismissed and for that reason they were dismissed. The case brought subsequently by the four persons against Mr. Wishart of assaulting a woman was false and malicious. In any case, the case brought by the four persons was not connected with the two incidents mentioned above. The Magistrate in his judgment himself agrees that there was no connection between the two incidents. The statement of Mr. Wishart, by the Company, in this reference to the four persons is not correct and the Company is not bound to reinstate the dismissed workmen. The Company further states that in view of the fact that the four persons were dismissed for assault on Mr. Wishart, the Company is not bound to reinstate them.

will not be to the interest of peace and in the mill to give any direction for of the workmen concerned."

The Directorate of the Government of Bengal took up the conciliation of the dispute between the Company and the Union in the discharge of the four abovenamed and Mr. S. N. Ganguly, Assistant Commissioner, visited the mill on 22nd March 1948 and held a detailed enquiry over the case in the mill on 17th March 1948, and on the dismissal of the four workmen on 18th March 1948. No conciliation could, however, be effected by the Labour Directorate. The Government thereupon referred the dispute to the Tribunal for adjudication.

Appearances for the parties were as follows:

Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Pleader, acted by Sri K. K. Sukla, Secretary of Union.

Company: Sri K. Bose, Counsel, acted by Sri J. K. Ghosh, Pleader of the Company, Messrs. Orr, Dignam & Co., Solicitors.

Issues framed are as follows:—

Issues.

1. Was the discharge of (1) Bhagania, (2) Salik Saha, (3) Ram Keshwar, and (4) Ishaque on 18th March 1948 unfair and unjustified?

2. Are the four workmen named above in issue No. 1 or any of them entitled to be reinstated?

3. Are they or any of them entitled to recover the emoluments for the period of their non-employment?

4. Could their service under the Company be deemed to be continuous notwithstanding the period of non-employment?

Decisions.

1—Was the discharge of (1) Bhagania, (2) Salik Saha, (3) Ram Keshwar, and (4) Ishaque on 18th March 1948 unfair and unjustified?

The four workmen named above in the issue were discharged on 18th March 1948 by the Company on the ground of the misconduct of assaulting Mr. Charles Wishart or of abetting him. It is the Company's case that Ishaque and Ram Keshwar were directly responsible for the assault and that Salik and Bhagania instigated the above two to commit the assault.

The Union's clear case is that there was no assault on Mr. Charles Wishart on 17th March 1948. On the contrary, Mr. Wishart hit the Ramdaiya of his department on the chest and caused injuries that had to be treated for a period of a week in a hospital and four workers were discharged on 18th March 1948 on false and malicious charges for misconduct, namely, that they were prominent in the Union, that they were prominent in the medical aid to the injured woman, and that they were important witnesses of the assault on Ramdaiya.

The Company, on the other hand, denies that there was any assault on Ramdaiya by Mr. Wishart on 17th March 1948 and characterises the case as a false and malicious one. It, however, admits that there was a connection between the two incidents, namely, the assault on Ramdaiya and the assault on Mr. Wishart.

Mr. Wishart by any workman, the Company likewise denied any assault on Ramdaiya by Mr. Wishart and sought to base its case entirely upon the assault on Mr. Wishart by workmen. Neither the Management nor the Union made any attempt to explain the allegation of the other side, namely, the story of the assault upon a person of its own group, although both sought to adduce substantial evidence on the incident of assault as alleged by each.

Oral and documentary evidence were adduced on both sides in support of their respective cases. The four workmen Bhagania, Salik Saha, Ram Keshwar and Ishaque were examined on the side of the Union. Mr. Charles Wishart, the Overseer, and Mr. J. M. Grant, the Manager of the Kinnison Jute Mills in March 1948, were examined by the Company. A number of documents were taken in evidence. The Union filed the judgment of the learned Magistrate of Barrackpore; the Company filed the copy of the judgment of the learned Sessions Judge in appeal and a number of mill papers.

P.W. 1 Bhagania states in her evidence that she did not know what happened before 4-30 p.m. on 17th March 1948, but that when she came to join her duty just at 4-30 p.m., she saw Mr. Wishart to deal a blow on the chest of Ramdaiya and a kick at her buttock felling her down. She says that Ramdaiya lay prostrate for 15 minutes with nobody approaching her and she then asked her to get up and go to the hospital and lodge a complaint to the Barrackpore Magistrate; at the same time she promised to take up her case with the Union. She and three other women then took Ramdaiya to the Kinnison Jute Mills dispensary in the afternoon at 5 p.m. Ramdaiya spat blood at night and was then taken to the hospital at Talpookur. She states that she did not know if Mr. Wishart was assaulted by anybody and denied the Company's case about the issue of warning-card to Salik Saha or any workman collecting around Mr. Wishart with a demand for cancellation of the warning-card, or assaulting Mr. Wishart. She was called by the Manager in the office in the evening and was asked who had assaulted Mr. Wishart and she replied that she did not know.

It appears from Exhibit 1 the judgment of the learned Magistrate that this witness was one of the seven prosecution witnesses and deposed before the Magistrate as to the whole prosecution story, that the accused (Mr. Wishart) approached the P. Ws. Ramdaiya, Basia, Budhia, Mahadia, Bhagania, Lilaprosad and Seucharan while working in the department with the question whether they were members of the Union and all kept quiet except Ramdaiya who told the accused in his face to leave this country instead of asking her to leave the Union and that this enraged Mr. Wishart who assaulted Ramdaiya. The evidence of P. W. 1 Bhagania before the Magistrate is not supported by her evidence in this proceeding, when she claims to have reached the place of assault just at 4-30 p.m. and only in time to see Mr. Wishart dealing the blows on the woman. If her present testimony were accepted she would have no opportunity of being approached by Mr. Wishart or hearing his questions of Ramdaiya's bold answer that earned her the injury. In examination-in-chief she says that she was never warned by her superior officials and never got a warning-card during her service. On cross-examination she admitted that she got a warning-card about 10 years ago as she quarrelled with another woman. She denied the receipt of warning-cards on three other occasions in 1941 and 1943, as it appears in the evidence in Exhibit B6. She states that she was discharged the Company as she was a member of the Union and realised subscriptions for the Union and recruited members from amongst the workers.

P. W. 2 Salik Saha was in the service of the Company for 28 years till the date of his discharge on 18th March 1948. He also states that he was discharged as he used to collect subscriptions for the Union and recruited members for it. He says that two weeks before the date of his discharge Mr. Wishart asked him to leave the Union on pain of dismissal. About the assault on Ramdaiya his evidence is that on 17th March 1948, Mr. Wishart dealt a slap on the side of the shoulder of Ramdaiya just behind her cheek and gave a kick on her buttock and that he saw this from a distance of 20 yards. He was a Line Sardar. On seeing Ramdaiya falling down he came to the spot and advised others to send her to the hospital and then he again went to his job. He denied that he was given a warning card by Mr. Wishart on 17th March 1948, or that he along with others assaulted Mr. Wishart on that date. He also denied the allegation of the Company that he received other warning-cards in 1940 and 1943. It was disclosed in his cross-examination that just after Mr. Wishart asked him to leave the Union in the first week of March 1948 he informed his Union Secretary about the matter and about the threat of the Manager to discharge him as he collected subscriptions for the Union. The Union Secretary was present throughout the proceedings but was not examined to corroborate him. The report against Salik Saha, being Exhibit B, shows note of issue of a number of warning-cards against him. Exhibit C, the hasira report on 17th March 1948, and Exhibit D, a register of warnings kept by Overseer Mr. Wishart show that Salik Saha was warned for careless work on 17th March 1948.

P. W. 3 Ram Keshwar states in his deposition that he served the Kinnison Jute Mills from 1936 in the Sack-sewing Department and was discharged on 18th March 1948, on the ground that he recruited members to the Union and collected subscriptions for the Union. He states that on 17th March 1948 Mr. Wishart struck Ramdaiya a blow on the chest and a kick on the buttock at which Ramdaiya fell down and got up after 15 minutes when Bhaganina and four other women took her to the hospital. His duty was finished at 4-30 p.m. and he then went home and did not know what happened after 4-30 p.m. He says that he worked for the Union for 3 years before the date of his discharge. In cross-examination he states that he, Salek Saha, Ishaque and Bhaganina collected subscriptions for the Union under written authority from the Secretary of the Union. He could not hear what talk Mr. Wishart had with Ramdaiya before she was assaulted, owing to the noise of the moving machines. He denied the story of the assault on Mr. Wishart by himself or any other person. He was not aware of the Criminal Case against Mr. Wishart. He says that on 16th March 1948 Mr. Wishart threatened him with dismissal at the slightest opportunity, as he was a member of the Union and he informed the Secretary of the Union about this threat. He also informed the Secretary about the assault on Ramdaiya before he went home at 4-30 p.m. on 17th March 1948. In collecting subscriptions he signed on the counterfoils of the receipts; these counterfoils were in the Union office.

The Secretary of the Union who was present at the time of the hearing was not examined to prove either the authority of the four defendants to recruit to collect subscriptions for the Union or to corroborate this witness. Mr. Wishart was not examined to prove that he was not assaulted on 17th March 1948.

P. W. 4 Mr. Ishaque was in the employ of the Kinnison Jute Mills for about a year and was discharged on 18th March 1948. He states that on 16th March 1948 Mr. Wishart threatened him with discharge if he did not leave the Union. He did not see the assault on Ramdaiya by Mr. Wishart but saw R being led to the hospital by Bhaganina and other women on 17th March 1948 at 4-30 p.m. He was working at a distance of 50 yards where Ramdaiya was assaulted. He denied that Mr. Wishart gave any warning card to him on 17th March 1948 or that a crowd of workers surrounded Mr. Wishart demanding the withdrawal of the warning card and the dismissal of Mr. Wishart. He denied having taken part in the assault on Mr. Wishart and stated that he did not know if Mr. Wishart was assaulted by anybody at that time.

O.P. W. 1 Mr. Charles Wishart states that he joined the Kinnison Jute Mills as the Overseer in 1931 and since then he has been employed in the jute industry except war years, when he went into active service. In 1948 March, he was working in the Kinnison Mills as the Overseer in charge of the F Department. He says that at about 2 o'clock on 17th March 1948 he found defects in bul sacks that were being sent to the hydraulic for packing and called for the explanation of Line Sardar Salik Saha. Not being satisfied with his answer he issued a warning-card to him. About 15 minutes after he was approached by Salik Saha and some of his associates who asked him to cancel or tear up the warning-card but he refused to do so. The crowd gradually increased in number, and at about 4-30 p.m., B came into the department, joined the crowd and incited the workers to assault the Overseer. P. Ws. Ishaque and Ramkeshwar were on the side of the Overseer at that time and threw some powder at the face of the Overseer. Next instant Ramkeshwar dealt two blows on the face of Mr. Wishart then he elbowed his way to the door of the godown of the Finishing Department, which was at a distance of 30 yards right and went to the office and reported the matter to the Assistant Manager who reported to the Manager who was at his bungalow. The Manager came down to the office and heard the entire incident from him. The witness submitted the report (Exhibit C) sent by him to the Department of the Mill intimating that a warning card was issued on Salik Saha on 17th March 1948. He also proved the papers, Exhibit B being the Register of Warning, Exhibit D. The witness denied that he ever enquired of the names of the Union Members in his department or that he threatened any worker with dismissal unless he left the Union. At about 6-45 p.m. he saw Ramdaiya being led towards the office by other women workers and approaching the door of the Main Office. Ramdaiya told the Manager that some one had hit her. Ramdaiya nor any woman accompanying her named the name of the witness as the assaulter. The witness denied that he assaulted Ramdaiya. The Union put the suggestion to the witness that he assaulted Ramdaiya. In his cross-examination that he assaulted Ramdaiya and was going away to the godown of the Finishing Department when the workers charged. The Union suggested that the papers, Exhibits B, C and D, were not genuine and were prepared for the purpose of this case. The witness denied the suggestion. The witness was examined to the Auckland Jute Mills and was found to be a Managing Agent in August 1948.

P. W. 2 Mr. J. M. Grant was the Manager of the Kinnison Jute Mills in March 1948. He was not examined to prove that he was not assaulted on 17th March 1948.

At about 4.25 a.m. the Assistant Cuthbert came to his bungalow when tea and informed him about the case. He immediately went to see Mr. Wishart who was bleeding and the mouth and had a bruise on nose and the mouth and watery. His eyes were blood-shot and watery. He told the witness that he had been told the witness then went inside the Department with Mr. Cuthbert and the department very slowly for about 15 minutes. There was no complaint from anybody. He found any worker, male or female, lying on account of any injury. No one told him that Mr. Wishart had hit a worker. He then went back to the office for 2 male members and one female of Works Committee and also Bhagania who was a prominent budly and warned them that he would have an enquiry about the matter of the assault. Outside the office he saw two workers sitting on the ground at about 6.40 a.m. he approached them they stood up, one said that she was in the crowd that sur- the Overseer and some one had hit her at when she fell down. The witness advised and see the doctor of the Mill. Mr. was then in the office. The women did the witness that Mr. Wishart had hit the woman. The Mill Dispensary usually is up till 7 p.m. as the mill usually works p.m. The witness proved the dispensary (Exhibit E), which shows the name of as the last entry written after the close of the entries. Exhibit B series, the reports of the four workmen who were discharged, submitted to him by Mr. Wishart on 18th March 1948 and he countersigned them. Mr. identified his assailants on the morning of 18th March 1948 but could not name them on any day although he told him that he identify them. On the 18th morning he sent a report to the Head Office and Exhibit F report. At mid-day he received a telephone from the Head Office that the four men in the report, Exhibit F, should be dismissed. That very night the witness received a message from the Head Office confirming the tele- message and this letter is Exhibit G. The witness proved the departmental hazira reports of Salik Saha and Bhagania, Exhibits H and I showing that warning-cards were issued on 17th March 1948. He never received any complaint from the workers stating that Mr. Wishart had assaulted them. He denied that the four workmen had been charged for their trade union activities. He has personal knowledge that they were members of the Union, although all of them claim- members of the Union. The witness also stated that these four workers were discharged be- cause they rendered assistance to Ramdaiya in medical relief. In cross-examination the witness stated that he called the four workers in the Office but they did not come and he did not inform them of any charge against them. He did not know of the existence of the Union several months before the date of the occurrence on 17th March 1948. Ishaque, Ramkeshwar and Salik Saha were known to him before they were identified as assailants on 18th March 1948. He did not know the Union, and made no enquiries about it. He passed orders for dismissal of the four workers and informed the Panchayat Com- mittee of the dismissals and also informed them that there was any trouble with the dismissals. He was a lock-out in the mill. He denied that the four workers were charged only to the members of the Union or because they were members of the Union.

The Union filed, Exhibit I, the judgment of the learned Magistrate at Barrackpore convicting Mr. Wishart under section 323, I.P.C., and sentencing him to a fine of Rs. 150, and in default thereof, rigorous imprisonment for one month. The learned Magistrate believed the prosecution evidence and came to the conclusion that Mr. Wishart really assaulted Ramdaiya as alleged. He laid great stress on the medical evidence. It appears from the judgment that the doctor who examined Ramdaiya at 7.45 p.m. on 17th March 1948 found a swelling on the upper part of the chest on the right side and complaints of pain and tenderness in the lower lumbar region and difficulty in respiration and that these injuries could not be incurred by a fall on the ground. Exhibit I, the judgment in appeal, shows that the learned Sessions Judge, 24-Parganas, considered that the prosecution had failed to prove the case against the accused beyond any reasonable doubt and acquitted Mr. Wishart on that ground. The acquittal of the accused on the benefit of a reasonable doubt in the prosecution case does not necessarily show that the incident alleged against him was untrue.

The mill papers, Exhibit C and Exhibit D, show that Salik Saha was warned for careless work on 17th March 1948. Although the prosecution witnesses including Salik Saha denied that he received any warning-card on 17th March 1948 for careless work and the Union suggested that all these papers showing the issue of warning-card on Salik Saha on 17th March 1948 were false and prepared for the purpose of the present case, I do not consider that there is any ground to disbelieve these papers of 17th March 1948 showing that a warning-card was issued on Salik Saha. Exhibit B shows that Salik Saha was also warned for careless work on three other occasions previously.

Exhibit F is the report of the Manager Mr. Grant to the Head Office sent in the morning of the 18th March 1948 stating the incident over the issue of warning-card to Salik Saha and the demand of his associates for withdrawal of the card and finally the assault on the Overseer. This report recommended the discharge of the two workers who were alleged to have committed the assault on the Overseer and Bhagmonia who is alleged to have incited the assault. Exhibit G, the reply of the Head Office to this letter, directs the Manager to dismiss the three persons whose dismissal was recommended by him, as also of Salik Saha over the warning on whom the incident happened.

It appears that Sri S. N. Ganguly, Assistant Labour Commissioner, visited the Kinnison Jute Mills on 22nd March 1948 and held a detailed enquiry into the incident on 17th March 1948 and the cause of the dismissal of the four workmen. He examined the Manager Mr. Grant and also a number of workmen. It appears that he did not examine Mr. Wishart. The Manager's statement before Mr. Ganguly was the same as it has been in this proceeding. The workers' version there was that the Line Overseer sent for five women workers, Budhia, Nanki, Chhotki, Ramdaiya and Mahadaiya and wanted to know if they had formed a Union. The workers replied that they had. The Line Overseer told them that as the Union did not feed them they should break up the Union and they should not do anything for it. The workers declined to do anything of the sort on which the Overseer threatened them with dismissal, at which Ramdaiya protested and had an exchange of hot words with him. In course of this exchange of words the Overseer assaulted Ramdaiya who fell down and was kicked by the Overseer. The women workers shouted and rushed at the Overseer who fled away. The learned Assistant Labour Commissioner notes his impression on a review of the whole matter that Ramdaiya was really assaulted and the Overseer was also assaulted by the workers.

The Company's case is that Mr. Wishart did not give the name of his assailants in the evening of 17th March 1948 but gave these names to the Manager on 18th March 1948. The Union criticised the conduct of Mr. Wishart and suggested that these names were selected on 18th March 1948 when the Management understood that Ramdaiya was in a serious condition and a criminal case might follow and the prominent union leaders were chosen for dismissal to counteract the criminal case by Ramdaiya. Mr. Grant clearly stated in his evidence that Mr. Wishart told him on 17th March 1948 that he could not name his assailants though he could identify them, and he identified the assailants on the following morning. When the report, Exhibit E, was sent to the Board Office the learned Counsel for the Company drew the attention to the fact that when Ramdaiya was in the office of the Manager in the evening of 17th March 1948 in the company of Mr. Wishart, Mr. Ramdaiya did not name any assailants.

The Company was justified. The discharge of Salik Saha was not recommended by the Manager Mr. Grant. It was only in compliance with the directions of the Office. I consider that this discharge is unjust and award accordingly. The discharge of Bhagmonia cannot also be justified on the mere ground that she was a well-known agitator and a rising leader of the affair. I do not find any evidence to show that Bhagmonia was the ring leader of the affair. The evidence on record shows she took part in raising a hue and cry at the time of the assault on the Overseer, but I do not consider that the assault on the Overseer occurred under the instigation of her. There must have been other people who raised the hue and cry at the time of the assault on Ramdaiya. The discharge of Bhagmonia shows discrimination in the management of the workers who raised the hue and cry at the time of the assault on the Overseer. I do consider that the discharge of Bhagmonia is a prominent bad work, and the Manager, who was the one who recommended the discharge of Bhagmonia, should be awarded a severe punishment.

21 (a) Are the four workmen named in issue No. 1 or any of them entitled to reinstatement?

Are they or any of them entitled to the emoluments for the period of their employment?

Is their service under the Company to be continuous notwithstanding the period of non-employment?

What has been discussed above there can be that Ramkeshwar and Ishaque are not to reinstatement. I take up the case of Isha and Salik Saha below:

Isha.—She was a budli and not a permanent. As has been discussed above she in raising a hue and cry along with others at the time of the assault on the

Her discharge as stated above was that she should be reinstated as a budli and I award accordingly. In view of the facts of the case, I do not award any compensation for the period of her non-employment, that this period should be treated as out pay. She shall be reinstated with the date of the operation of this Award.

Isha.—The evidence on record does not show this worker was really implicated in the

Mr. Wishart. He was not mentioned in Exhibit F, of the Manager to the order for discharge in connection with the the Overseer. I do consider that as the episode did not find place in the report to attain an undue prominence at the time which caused the direction for the discharge of this worker by it. The discharge of was, therefore, wrongful and was wrong data. I do not find that Salik is charged for trade union activities. As he was wrongful he would be entitled to compensation for such discharge. As the closure of the Jute Textile Industry was on 18th March 1948 this workman could be charged in the way he was and he would be entitled to emoluments for the period of pendency and up to November 1948. In lieu of compensations, I award that he should be and given a compensation for loss of

to the extent of three months' average pay as allowance. The period of his non-employment should be considered to be leave with as given above. This workman is reinstated with effect from the date on which the Award comes into operation, and the amount awarded to him shall be paid within from the date of the commencement of operation of the Award.

I consider that there is any feeling between management and the workers Bhagmonia Ishas as to lead me to consider that their it will be detrimental to peace in the

it. They shall, therefore, be reinstated as mentioned above.

The award made by the said Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of its publication.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of reference No. 3735 Lab., dated the 29th July 1949, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., Limited, 1 and 2, Old Court House Corner, Calcutta, and their employees represented by B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd., Employees' Union, 256A, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta.

PRESENT: SRI A. DAS GUPTA, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the employers: Sri S. Sen, Advocate, instructed by Messrs. Orr Dignam & Company, Solicitors, and assisted by I. S. Musleah, Sales Manager, National Tobacco Company.

For the employees: Sri D. M. Das, Joint Secretary of the Union.

Points for adjudication have been formulated in the order of reference. These are—

(1) Whether the discharge of Sri S. C. Chakravarty, Sri T. P. Banerjee, Sri A. K. Das, Sri D. N. Ganguly and Sri H. M. Ganguly was unjustified and, if so, whether they are entitled to reinstatement and what wages they should get for the period of unemployment.

(2) Whether Sri P. C. Sarkar is entitled to wages for the period of his unemployment.

AWARD.

Prior to this reference a Board of Conciliation was appointed with Sri P. K. Sarkar as Chairman to settle the dispute between the employers and the employees. Before the Board of Conciliation, the Union demanded reinstatement of seven employees (1) D. N. Ganguly, (2) M. C. Ghosh, (3) S. C. Chakravarty, (4) A. K. Das, (5) T. P. Banerjee, (6) P. C. Sarkar and (7) H. N. Ganguly. During the Conciliation proceedings, the Company agreed to reappoint Sri P. C. Sarkar. The recommendation of the Board in respect of the remaining six was as follows:—

"The Board feels that it would have been much better if the Company had seen its way to take back the six clerical employees mentioned above as they agreed to do in the case of one (P. C. Sarkar). Such an offer on the part of the Company would have led to an amicable settlement of the dispute and established good relations between the Company and the Union. In the interest of such relations the Company should, in the opinion of the Board, take back these six men, namely, (1) D. N. Ganguly, (2) M. C. Ghosh, (3) S. C. Chakravarty, (4) A. K. Das, (5) T. P. Banerjee and (6) H. N. Ganguly."

These six men were kept on a waiting list with the assurance that they would be taken back when the Company would require more men. Sri M. C. Ghosh has since been reappointed. But as regards the others, as I could understand from a discussion with the parties, that this assurance has very little value inasmuch as the Company contemplates to carry on further retrenchment.

Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd., are the managing agents for several Companies and have its Head Office at Norton Buildings. The Head Office has several departments in relation to different Companies which are under the management of Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd. The Company retrenched several officers, clerks and members of the subordinate staff from May to September 1948. The first retrenchment took place on the 31st May 1948. And this was brought to the notice of the Labour Commissioner by the Union. On the 30th June 1948, a large number of men were given notice of discharge. The matter was again brought to the notice of the Labour Commissioner by the Union and a joint conference was held at the instance of the Labour Commissioner on 19th July 1948 for settlement of the disputes. Subsequent to this, there were several such conferences but there was no settlement. On the 31st July 1948, some more employees were discharged. On the 5th August 1948, the Union served a strike notice on the Company but on the Labour Commissioner's pointing out that the strike would be illegal, the idea was given up by the Union. On the 31st August 1948 and 30th September 1948 some other employees were discharged. Thereupon the Government appointed the Board of Conciliation.

The necessity for retrenchment has not been disputed by the Union. The sworn testimony of Mr. I. S. Musleah, Sales Manager of the National Tobacco Company, who holds a power of attorney for the management of all the sister concerns, is that ever since 1947 it was found that the Company was not doing quite well; and that in 1948, the Company lost Rs. 8,10,000. The position of the Company is not better this year. According to the management, during the war years, the Company did not hesitate to take in a large number of employees as they felt that their resources would not be strained and that it might be possible to make use of extra hands as the business showed signs of increasing in volume. The position is now considerably reversed and profound consideration has to be given to the economic set-up of the organization. Most of the men retrenched are from the National Tobacco Company, Limited. The volume of sales has dropped considerably since the war years when large quantities were absorbed by Army Personnel and there was more buying power in the market. The Company has to compete with a practically monopolistic Company, the Imperial Tobacco Co., Ltd., with their vast resources at their disposal. Mr. Musleah has given some reasons for the sudden change in the financial position of the Company. When the necessity of retrenchment is not disputed, I do not propose to enter into those reasons. It may be noted that it is not disputed that retrenchment was unknown in the history of the Company. Sri D. N. Ganguly who has been an employee of the Company for nine years and who unfortunately became a victim to the retrenchment gives a compliment to the Company that during the last few years of his service there was never any discharge or dismissal or retrenchment prior to the retrenchment in question. The Company is said to have decided retrenchment with reluctance under economic compulsion. In effecting the retrenchment the heads of different departments were called upon to give their opinion as to who could be retrenched. In selecting men for retrenchment, the Company followed the following principle: (1) The employees were ranked according to their seniority.

according to the seniority having special regard to the individual efficiency of each man. A junior man was found more efficient as promising than a senior man, he was retained in preference to senior man.

The Company claim to have taken into (1) seniority (2) competency and (3) service of each and every individual employee. And from the record of the Board of Conciliation in the early part of this year, financial conditions began to engage the attention of the parties and they sought ways and means for relieving the work of the Head Office and cut expenses. A Time Study Engineer was consulted and it was found that more men employed in the Head Office than necessary that the work done by these men could be performed by a lesser number of men with efficiency. All sections were scrutinised in manner and the excess men were retrenched in gradual stages. It is not disputed that before retrenchment was actually effected the Company held conferences with the Union and the was always kept informed of what the Company decided from time to time. No bad motive imputed to the Company. It is the exclusive function of management to determine the working force. This is the recognised principle obtaining in industries in advanced countries where trade union has also advanced. It is the management to decide the magnitude of business, production, the scheme of the business and job contents. And it is also the exclusive function of the management to change the contents from time to time provided it is not in violation of the contract. It has not been suggested by the Union that such retrenchment there has been any violation of labour or there has been any denial of employees of the statutory privileges or any privileges which the employees enjoy from time to time. Management's right to discharge employee when there is a "cause" has been established. It will be inexpedient for the arbitrator to enquire upon the bona fide management functions. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, gives the Industrial Tribunals in India wide powers to reinstate. But it has been almost a tradition with the Industrial Tribunals not to interfere on the grounds of expediency so long as management functions are exercised for the bona fide reasons and not for other reasons of bad faith. The necessity of the retrenchment has been admitted and there being no suggestion of bad faith or unfair labour practice, this Tribunal it is regretted, cannot interfere in the process and give any relief to the employees concerned.

I do not find any defect in the principles followed by the Company in effecting the retrenchment. The very fact that out of the seven men reinstatement was demanded by the Union Company reappointed Sri P. C. Sarkar in the Conciliation proceedings and Mr. M. C. Ghosh immediately after the conclusion of Conciliation proceedings, indicates that retrenchment was not prompted by any bad intention. I wanted the Union to place before me a list of persons whom it would like to be reinstated in the place of the five men retrenched. S. C. Chakravarty, A. K. Das, D. N. Ganguly, S. C. Chakravarty, A. K. Das, D. N. Ganguly, and H. N. Ganguly. The Union has not placed before me a list of clerks who are to be less efficient than these five men. It is the exclusive function of the management to determine the size of the working force and the management has no jurisdiction to interfere with the size of the working force. The Tribunal has no jurisdiction to interfere with the management of the employees in the present case where the management of the employees is not in question. It is the management to determine the individual efficiency of each man.

also their comparative efficiency. All efficiency or low efficiency do not warrant discharge in the strict sense of the word, this can always be taken into account which of the employees should be retrenched. And which should be retrenched. An employee may not be altogether inefficient but he is retrenched in preference to another having a degree of efficiency. The principle followed by the Company was substantially accepted inasmuch as no objection was raised to the retrenchment of the other most of whom did not come under the principle of "last come first go". Comparative efficiency of the employees was taken into account and the Company retained those who were found more efficient than those who were found less efficient. There is no defect in this principle. One can only substitute these men by a set of five men who may be found less efficient than five men. The Union could not point to such man.

contended on behalf of the Union that departments should have been considered unit and that the retrenchment should have been effected according to seniority from the list of the entire body of employees under Messrs. Messrs. & Co., Ltd. This principle does not hold good. In assessing the efficiency of the employees the management cannot but refer to the mental heads. The head of one department is expected to say anything about the work of a workman working in another department. The principle followed by the Company was that when the Company required the minimum strength of a department, the departmental head was asked to report which employees he would retain having regard to the strength which the Company had decided upon. In these circumstances, the head of a department would not take the risk to lose one of his department for one of another department who may not be found quite efficient in the department to which he is transferred. In the circumstances of the present case, I regret I cannot give any relief, to any of the five discharged employees. I would however recommend that these employees should be kept on a waiting list and all equal they should be given the first consideration when the Company contemplate to create additional hands.

As regards P. C. Sarkar we could understand that he was appointed in the Bill Section of the Department and that when the Company decided to retrenchment he was retrenched. The post which he was holding was abolished. The Company decided to distribute the works he was doing among four ledger keepers. P. C. Sarkar was a very useful hand and the Company was reluctant to lose him. The post which he held has since been abolished. But in the Conciliation proceedings, the Company decided to reappoint P. C. Sarkar in some other post. This was done. When a post is abolished the incumbent must as a consequence be discharged. He has been appointed to a post in the Provident Fund Department which has been created for him. It was suggested on behalf of the Union that the post which P. C. Sarkar was holding in the Accounts Department should be transferred to the Provident Fund Department. The Company has agreed to this. The fact is that the post which P. C. Sarkar held in the Accounts Department has been abolished. There is no objection against the reappointment of P. C. Sarkar. Even if the post which he was holding in the Accounts Department had been abolished, it would not have affected his reappointment to the post which he is now holding in the Provident Fund Department.

for bona fide trade reasons. As the post was abolished, the incumbent had to be discharged. But subsequently when the Company decided to reappoint Sri P. C. Sarkar he was appointed to the Provident Fund Department. This might have been the reason for recreating the post which Sri P. C. Sarkar held in the Accounts Department. The Company could do without the post and the post would not have been recreated if Sri P. C. Sarkar had not been taken in. In the circumstances of the present case, I hold that Sri P. C. Sarkar was only re-appointed and this fresh appointment begins from the date when he was appointed to the Provident Fund Department. His appointment in the Accounts Department was duly terminated with one month's salary in lieu of notice. Legally I cannot award him any compensation for the break period, but I may recommend his case for favourable consideration by the employers. If the employers had considered the worth of this man a little earlier, i.e., at the time of the retrenchment he would not have fallen a victim to this unhappy retrenchment.

Affairs, O.M. No. 51/130/48-Public, dated 5th,
October 1949. Dy TM/1457.)

Subject:—Procedure for realisation and payment of rent compensation in respect of properties requisitioned for the accommodation of Government Officers and other private persons.

No. TM/809.—24th October 1949.—A copy of the Government of West Bengal, Land and Land Revenue Department, Requisition Branch, letter No. 3643(14)-Reqn./2M-44/48, dated 6th May 1949, on the subject noted above is reproduced below for information and guidance of all concerned:—

"The undersigned is directed to say that the liability for payment of rent compensation and other incidental charges in respect of houses requisitioned by Government for accommodation of Government servants and other private persons rests with Government. These charges should, therefore, be initially paid by Government irrespective of whether the rent compensations are realisable from the occupants or not.

2. The following procedure should be followed for realisation and payment of rent compensation and other compensation in respect of these requisitioned houses:—

In Calcutta, the Land Acquisition Collector will submit contingent bills for rent compensation payable to the owners to the Accountant-General, West Bengal, who will draw up the cheques in favour of the parties concerned in accordance with the procedure laid down in subsidiary rule 242 under the Treasury Rules, Bengal, Volume I.

In districts other than Calcutta, the District Collector or any other officer empowered to draw bills on this account may draw contingent bills for rent compensation payable to house owners and endorse such bills in favour of the latter for submission to the Treasury Officer for encashment in accordance with the procedure laid down in subsidiary rule 242 of Treasury Rules, Bengal, Volume I.

3. The charges on account of the payment of rent compensation, etc., should be debited to a new sub-head 'Rents and taxes of requisitioned buildings', which has already been opened under '57 Miscellaneous—Miscellaneous and unforeseen charges'.

4. In realising the rent compensation from the occupants, if they are Government servants, the procedure laid down in Articles 48 to 50 of the Bengal Financial Rules and subsidiary rule 164 of the Bengal Treasury Rules should be followed. In accordance with these rules a demand statement in F.R. Form No. 3 showing the rent compensation recoverable from pay bills should be sent in duplicate or triplicate according as recoveries are to be effected through a Treasury Officer or other Disbursing Officer before the close of each month. In accordance with subsidiary rule 164 of Treasury Rules, Bengal, and the subsidiary rules made thereunder, officers who draw their own bills, and in the case of non-gazetted officers, the heads of offices shall make the necessary deductions as specified in the demands from the next pay bill. After the recovery is made, one copy of the demand statement which will be rendered in duplicate should be returned to the authority from which it was received after noting the amounts recovered, the other copy being attached to the bill from which recovery has been made. If the occupants are other than Government servants, they should deposit with the Land Acquisition Collector, Calcutta, or the District Collector, as the case may be, an amount equivalent to the estimated rent compensation for at least six months as security and the rent compensation for each month should be deposited by the occupants with the officer within the tenth of the succeeding month.

In cases where there is delay in fixing compensation, the estimated rent should be realised from the occupants in said manner every month and necessary payments should be made later on after the rent compensation.

5. Receipts on account of rent compensation and other charges realised from the occupants should be credited to the head 'XIA Miscellaneous—Miscellaneous Rents, etc. of requisitioned buildings'.

6. A pro forma account should be maintained to show the financial results of the transaction of realisation and payment of rents and showing the position, should be submitted to the Government every three months.

7. The amount of the charges on account of rent compensation may be reported at an early date. Necessary allotments may be made under head '57—Miscellaneous—Miscellaneous unforeseen charges—Rents and taxes of requisitioned buildings'.

8. The existing practice of house or dwelling bills direct to the Accountant-General, West Bengal, where the monthly rent of a house is Rs. 250 or more should continue forthwith.

9. [The previous orders contained in Government Order No. 843 Reqn. dated 10th October 1948, may be treated as modified accordingly.]

11. If more nomination papers than are allowed by the proviso to rule 9(3) be subscribed by the same elector, then only the permissible number of such nomination papers first received by the Returning Officer shall, if otherwise in order, be held to be valid, but if the Returning Officer is unable to determine the order in which such nomination papers were received by him, all of such nomination papers shall be held to be invalid.

12. Every nomination paper in respect of which any requirement of these rules has not been complied with, or which is not received by the Returning Officer on or before the latest date and time fixed for the sending in of nomination papers, shall be invalid.

Scrutiny of nomination papers.

13. (1) On the date and at the time and place appointed by the Returning Officer under rule 21 for the scrutiny of nomination papers, every candidate and his proposer and seconder may attend, and the Returning Officer shall allow them to examine the nomination papers of their respective candidates which have been received by him and on which he has noted the result of his examination under rule 10.

(2) The Returning Officer shall decide all objections to his decision as well as all questions which may be raised as to the validity of any nomination and his decision or any such question shall, subject to the provisions of rules 42 and 43, be final.

A candidate who has withdrawn his candidature shall not be allowed to cancel the withdrawal or to be renominated as a candidate for the same election.

Election and voting.

15. (1) If in the case of an election, whether general or casual, to be held at any time under any clause of section 2, the total number of duly nominated candidates who stand for election or remain in the field after withdrawal of candidates does not exceed the number of vacancies, the Returning Officer shall, on the completion of such scrutiny in the presence of the candidates, their proposers and seconders, forthwith declare such candidate or candidates to be elected.

Should this contingency arise as a result of withdrawal under rule 14 communicated after the scrutiny no poll shall be held for the particular electorate concerned and the fact shall forthwith be notified in the Calcutta Gazette, but the formal declaration of result of its election shall be held over until the date of counting of votes in respect of other electorates.

(2) If the number of such candidates exceeds the numbers to be so elected the Returning Officer shall—

(a) cause the names, qualifications, registration numbers and addresses of the candidates offering for election under each such clause to be entered alphabetically in the order of their surnames in a separate voting paper in Form III in the appendix, and

(b) thereupon publish in the Calcutta Gazette and in such other manner as he may think fit the said names, with the respective qualifications, and addresses, classified according to the clauses of section 2.

(3) The Returning Officer shall by a date fixed under rule 21 send by registered post to each qualified elector concerned at his registered address one such voting paper (and no more) of candidates for election under the clause or clauses of section 2 under which he is qualified to vote with an identification envelope in Form No. IV in the Appendix.

Provided that such a voting paper with an identification envelope shall also be sent to such an elector (if any) to whom a voting paper has not been sent, on his applying to the Returning Officer for the same at any time before the latest date and time appointed by him for return of voting papers. In any other case shall a voting paper be issued after the last date fixed under rule 21 for the issue of voting papers nor shall a voting paper be sent by post but returned undelivered by the post office to the elector on its return to the office of the Returning Officer.

(4) A voting paper shall be invalidated by reason of the non-receipt by any elector of a voting paper.

16. (1) Every qualified elector desirous of recording votes shall mark the voting paper sent to him with a single cross (and no other mark) in the proper column or columns (and no more) for the name or names of the candidate or candidates (not more than the number of candidates to be elected) for whom he intends to vote. Any mark other than a cross or any more than one cross shall be invalid.

Explanation.—At a general election under clause (b) or (c) of section 2 a qualified voter of the Electoral Roll of any of the three constituencies will be entitled to vote for each member of candidature who has been notified under rule 7, giving each candidate one vote.

(2) The qualified elector shall sign particulars full particulars the requisite declaration printed on the identification envelope received with each voting paper, place the voting paper in that envelope, close it and deliver it personally or send it singly by post to reach the Returning Officer on or before the latest day and time fixed by him for the return of voting papers with relative identification envelope.

(3) No voting paper will be accepted unless it is enclosed in the identification envelope supplied with it, and any defect, e.g., incompleteness in the entries required on the envelope or its receipt after the latest day and time fixed for its return with the proper voting paper shall invalidate both the envelope and the voting paper enclosed.

(4) Every voting paper in respect of which or on requirement of these rules has not been complied with or in which mark is placed in such a manner as to make it doubtful to which candidate the vote is given or on which the elector has placed any mark whereby he may be afterwards identified or on which an alteration or erasure occurs indicating a change of vote or which is not received by the Returning Officer on or before the latest day and time fixed for the return of voting papers shall be invalid.

Counting of votes and declaration and publication of results of election.

17. (1) On receiving the identification envelope the Returning Officer shall divide them into separate batches according to the different electorates concerned and shall examine the envelope in each batch separately as regards the completeness or otherwise of the particulars required to be entered thereon, and shall record his decision "rejected" on any identification envelopes which are incomplete in any requisite entry, mark thereon the incompleteness of entry and place them in safe custody for inspection at the counting of votes. The distinction of divided batches and sets shall be maintained throughout the entire process of counting of votes.

(2) The Returning Officer shall place the identification envelopes which are complete in requisite entries which he provisionally accepts as containing valid voting papers without opening them in a separate ballot box for each electorate.

18. (1) The Returning Officer shall attend for the purpose of counting the votes on such date or dates and at such time and place as may be appointed by him under rule 21.

(2) Every candidate may be present in person or may send one representative, duly authorised by him in writing, to watch the process of counting.

(3) The Returning Officer shall show all identification envelopes whether accepted or rejected to the candidates or their representatives for examination of the propriety of their acceptance or rejection, and dispose of any objection taken to his decision in the manner prescribed in sub-rule (5).

(4) The accepted identification envelopes in sets where so divided under sub-rule (1) will then be opened in the presence of the candidates or their representatives appearing under sub-rule (2) and the voting papers will be separated from their covers which shall be kept aside from view and the Returning Officer will then proceed to examine the voting papers to see whether they have been duly and correctly filled in respect of every requisite particular. He shall record his decision "rejected" on every voting paper which is found to be defective in any respect and indicate thereon with reference to rule 17 the ground of rejection very briefly. The remaining voting papers will be divided into convenient batches of voting papers, whether accepted or rejected, and be presented in separate sets where so directed by the Returning Officer to the candidates or their representatives present for examination of the process of counting.

(5) If any objection is taken to the decision of acceptance or rejection of any identification envelope or voting paper, such objection shall be decided by the Returning Officer, whose decision shall, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (6), be final.

(6) The Returning Officer shall cause to be separated the rejected voting papers from the accepted ones, and shall keep them in separate bundles. The rejected voting papers shall be kept in separate bundles, and the accepted voting papers shall be kept in separate bundles. All these bundles of voting papers shall be kept in safe custody for disposal.

(2) When an equality of votes is found to exist between any candidates, and the addition of a vote will entitle any of the said candidates to be declared elected, the determination of the person or persons to whom such one additional vote shall be deemed to have been given shall be made by lot to be drawn in the presence of the Returning Officer and in such manner as he may determine.

(3) When a seat of a particular electorate becomes vacant by the refusal of the elected candidate to serve, such refusal being signified before his name is published in the Calcutta Gazette under rule 22, the seat may be filled up by that one among the other candidates willing to accept office who has received the highest number of votes among unsuccessful candidates of the electorate affected at the election. If there is no unsuccessful candidate a fresh election shall be held to fill the vacancy thus created.

The Returning Officer shall determine which candidate should be declared as elected under this sub-rule and announce the results as soon as possible after the counting of votes.

The declaration in this case may be made either in the presence of the candidates or their representatives if present or merely by notification in the Calcutta Gazette under rule 22.

(4) The Returning Officer shall immediately report the results of the elections to the President. Should the election fail to secure members with the requisite qualifications required by section 2 in any case, the defect in respect of each electorate should at the same time be reported for the information of the President along with any defect in the number of candidates that offered for election and the want of candidates willing to accept office in circumstances contemplated in paragraph 1 of sub-rule (3).

20. Upon the completion of the counting of votes and after the results have been declared by him, the Returning Officer shall seal up the voting papers with their identification envelopes and all other documents relating to the elections and shall retain the same for a period of six months and thereafter cause them to be destroyed.

21. The Returning Officer shall appoint and shall notify in the Calcutta Gazette and in such other manner as he may think fit, such date or dates or latest date, as the case may be, and, if necessary, such time and place as may be deemed suitable, for each of the following operations of an election, namely:—

- (a) the issuing of nomination papers under rule 7;
- (b) the receiving of nominations under rule 6;
- (c) the scrutiny of nomination papers under rule 13;
- (d) the sending of voting papers with the relative identification envelopes under rule 15;
- (e) the receiving of voting papers with the relative identification envelopes under rule 16; and
- (f) the counting of the votes under rules 18 and 19.

The dates appointed must ensure the completion of the election, in the case of a general election in ample time before the expiry of the term of office of the sitting members and, in the case of casual vacancy under section 7, sub-section (1) or section 7A, sub-section (2) or resulting from the death or resignation of a member within two months prescribed by section 8.

Report of results of elections by the Returning Officer to the Provincial Government.

22. On the declaration of the results of election under rule 19(4) the Registrar with the approval of the President shall forthwith report to the Provincial Government the results of all elections for publication in the Calcutta Gazette. He shall at the same time report what seats, if any, of any electorates could not be filled by election stating the reasons for the same. If the election from any particular electorate fails the Provincial Government shall order a fresh election and in case the second election also proves abortive the Provincial Government shall appoint the requisite number of members. The members so appointed shall thereupon be deemed to have been elected from that particular electorate.

Part III.—Election under clause (a)(ii) of sub-section (2) of section 29 of the Statutes.

Election of the Vice-President under clause (a) of section 2.

23. (a) Within one month from the date of appointment of the President under clause (a) of the Statutes, a meeting of the reconstituted Council shall be held for the election of the Vice-President. The date of such meeting shall be fixed by the new President and necessary notices shall be issued by him to all the members at least fifteen days before the date of the meeting.

(b) The President shall preside at the meeting for the election of the Vice-President. If he is absent or is unable to preside, the members present shall elect one of their number to preside as their Chairman. Such Chairman shall not be a candidate for election.

(c) There shall be a proposer and a seconder for each candidate for the office of the Vice-President, and if there be more than one candidate so proposed and seconded the election shall be decided by the majority of votes, each member present, having a single vote. Votes shall be taken by ballot. The Chairman shall determine the method of taking votes by ballot. In case of equality of votes, the Chairman shall have a casting vote.

24. In the case of casual vacancy occurring in the office of the Vice-President a new Vice-President shall be elected in the next general meeting of the Council in accordance with the procedure as laid down in rule 23.

25. The name of the person elected as Vice-President shall be forthwith communicated by the Chairman to the Registrar of the Council, who shall report it to the Provincial Government for publication in the Calcutta Gazette.

The Chairman shall read out these names at the meeting and if the number of candidates so nominated be one he shall forthwith declare the candidate to be duly co-opted.

35. If there be more than one candidate, for whom valid nomination papers have been received, the Chairman shall hold a ballot in the manner laid down in rule 34 and declare the candidate having the largest number of votes as duly co-opted. In case of equality of votes the co-opted shall be decided by lot.

the help of the black-board and orally.

Writing.—Copy books are to be used. The black-board should be freely used, the words written on the black-board being from the Primer.

should not exceed one-fourth of the text. The Primer should be illustrated to help in the better understanding of the text. The meanings of difficult words and phrases may be appended to each lesson.

Composition.—Easy conversation about description of pictures in the Primer as well as other suitable pictures and familiar objects. Dictation of words and sentences previously learnt in the Primer should be introduced freely. Oral drill with action both for individual pupils and groups should form part of the training. Pupils also should participate in giving orders, asking and other countries. (Didactic lessons should be eschewed, and the meanings of difficult words and Another 20 pages of suitable stories in narrative form including anecdotes from lives of great men should be added to the Reader for supplementary reading and pupils should be encouraged to read Hindi with ease and enjoyment at as early a period of school career as possible.

The teacher should now do less talking and induce the pupils to take a larger share in the Temporary regulations for the prevention and control of cholera.

1. In these regulations, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

Notices.

3. If in any case the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector considers that the issue of a notice under these regulations is likely to lead to such an amount of delay as might facilitate the spread of cholera he may forthwith take such steps as he may think fit for carrying out the work, and shall thereafter, as soon as possible, issue a notice on the person concerned stating the reason why such work has been carried out.

4. If any measure which the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector has, by a notice issued under these regulations, required to be carried out, be not carried out to his satisfaction within the time stated in the notice, the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector shall be entitled to carry out the measure.

Costs and compensation.

5. (1) All expenses incurred in carrying out any work in pursuance of an order issued under these regulations shall be paid by the municipality except in any case where the order directs a person to carry out any work in relation to property in his possession in which case the expenses shall be paid by that person.

Provided that where the conditions which led to the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector issuing such an order, are not attributable to any act or default of the persons in possession of the property, the municipality shall pay to such person the whole or a part of the expenses incurred by him in carrying out the order.

(2) The municipality shall pay to any person who is isolated under these regulations the expenses incurred by him in carrying out the order.

6. The municipality shall pay adequate compensation to any person who has sustained a substantial loss or damage by reason of any order issued under these regulations:

Provided that no person shall receive compensation for anything done or suffered under these regulations, if he has failed to carry out the order issued under these regulations within the time specified in the order and to the satisfaction of the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector.

(2) The doctor-in-charge of a hospital or dispensary within the municipality shall forthwith give notice of any case of cholera brought to the hospital or dispensary for treatment to the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector by a messenger and the cost of such messenger case shall be defrayed by the municipality.

9. Registrars of births and deaths shall forward to the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector periodical returns of cases of cholera as and when from time to time called upon them to furnish the same.

10. The Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may examine any person who is, or is suspected to be, suffering from cholera or who, in his opinion, may be infected with or likely to spread cholera.

11. When the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector considers that the isolation of a patient is a precaution necessary for the protection of the neighbouring population, he shall order the patient to observe isolation and may order the nearest relative in attendance upon the patient, or the occupier of the house in which the patient is staying, to arrange for the isolation of the patient in such a manner as may be approved by the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector.

ORDER.

ANNEXURE.

AWARD.

The dispute arose on submitting a claim for damages by the Union in the month of November 1948. Thereafter conciliatory proceedings were taken up but no amicable settlement could be made. So the whole matter was referred to the Tribunal.

In the order of reference, the issues have been settled as follows:—

1. Minimum basic pay and dearness allowance for unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled workers.
2. Leave.
3. Benefits of involuntary unemployment.
4. Provident Fund.
5. Retrenchment of 14 workers, viz. (1) Nirmal Bhattacharjee, (2) Tinkari Mitra, (3) Ananta Mukherjee, (4) Ramprasad, (5) Mohan Mohan Santra, (6) Debiprasad Chakravarty, (7) Sripati Das, (8) Ram Gopal Das, (9) Harendra Dutta, (10) Sambhu Sen, (11) Prorati Bhattacharjee, (12) Basudeb Adak, (13) Matilda Misra and (14) Gajendra Nath Mitra.
6. Discharge of Sidheswar Samanta.

The Union, i.e., the Iron Factory Workers Union, submitted a written statement. Another Union, Sen Mukherjee & Company Labour Committee, also appeared and submitted a written statement stating that it represented all workmen, especially the clerical staff, of the Company. Regarding appearance of Sen Mukherjee & Co. Labour Committee, an exception was taken by the employer stating that the order of reference did not mention that the said Committee had any dispute with the Company. The above Labour Committee prayed for several adjournments on the ground that they would get necessary orders of reference from the Government but ultimately no such order has been received. The points raised by Sen Mukherjee & Co. Labour Committee could not therefore be taken up by the Tribunal. The points for adjudication centred round, therefore, as contained in the schedule in the body of reference as set up by the Iron Factory Workers Union.

Issue No. 1.—Minimum basic pay, dearness allowance, etc.

On perusal of the list of the employees of the Company what struck the most is that 68 workers have been classified as the class of trades apprentices and are not even paid what is called living wages. Most of these workers are paid at the rate varying from 12 annas to rupee one per day including dearness allowance. It is clear that some of these workers have put in nearly two years' service and almost all of them have put in more than one year's service. Most of these people do the jobs of turners, fitters, and some are attached to Street Section, Carpentry and Blacksmith Shop. So obviously these workers are semi-skilled and not unskilled workers but are deliberately classified as helpers and apprentices though the duties which they are independently discharging are duties which are of a semi-skilled nature for over a year presumably to the detriment of the employers. This is a great anomaly. It is my opinion that gross injustice has been done to this group of workers who are wrongly classified and with consequent disadvantage to their wages and emoluments. On my suggestion, the Company has not enough to pay them. If these workers are to be paid as semi-skilled workers, they should be paid at least 12 annas per day and the sick leave should be 15 days for 7 days with full pay for clerical and supervisory staff.

should be reclassified in the categories of semi-skilled workers as the case may be.

Regarding wages, I order the workers should get basic minimum dearness allowance at Rs. 55 per month and Rs. 2-5-0 per day or Rs. 25-0-0 per month from the date of publication of the order and may not act in such a way as to create a rift between labour and themselves. A good gesture and help to clear the stiff atmosphere and distrust.

The Company has also agreed to the decision of the Engineering Tribunal and, therefore, that all workers be properly classified and the basic dearness allowance for unskilled, semi-skilled and highly skilled should be as per award of the Engineering Tribunal. However, want to make one reservation: workers who are already getting more than the Engineering Tribunal has awarded should not be adversely affected by this order. status quo should be properly maintained of those already earning higher.

I find there is no system of accounting separate payments of dearness allowance. Company should show basic wages as allowance separately and the amount of the items basic salary and dearness must not fall below the minimum fix Engineering Tribunal award.

Issue No. 2.—Leave.

Leave is awarded as per Engineering award as follows:—

- (a) 10 days' continuous holidays under Factories Act, which is equivalent to 8 or 9 paid holidays according to the provision of the Act.
- (b) 8 festival days.
- (c) 5 or 6 days' other leave with pay may be taken in continuation of days under the Factories Act separately at the option of the employee. This other leave for 5 or 6 days may accumulate for 2 years, as provided in the 10 days' leave under the Act.
- (d) Sick leave—15 days' sick leave on full pay in a year of service. This leave may accumulate, i.e., if in one year an employee does not take sick leave, he may take sick leave in the next year he may take sick leave on half pay up to 30 days and so on. This leave will be discontinued as soon as the Employees' State Insurance Act comes into operation.

Regarding clerical and supervisory staff, they get same festival leave as the workers. Privilege leave on full pay for 21 days in a year and on half pay for 15 days in a year. The privilege leave will accumulate up to 30 days and the sick leave will accumulate up to 30 days.

Regarding leave for 7 days with full pay for clerical and supervisory staff.

No. 3.—Unemployment.

Company was agreeable to follow the award given by the Engineering Tribunal. Any unemployment means stoppage of work to unforeseen circumstances such as fire, breakdown of machinery or stoppage of supply, shortage of essential raw material, epidemic, civil commotion, or other whatsoever beyond the control of the employer and in such cases the employees will be entitled for the period of involuntary unemployment at the rate of half the basic pay plus the dearness allowance for 30 days in a year from January to June and July to September.

To qualify for the unemployment benefit the worker must answer to a muster roll at his usual place of employment, and must be prepared to do work even of a sort in his factory or in any other establishment under the same employers and if he does so, he will be ineligible for the benefit.

If the period of stoppage of work extends for more than 14 days in any half year, no further benefit will be payable to the workmen. If they quit by giving the necessary notice, they will be entitled to resume their posts when the work of the Company starts again.

Issue No. 4.—Provident Fund.

Company now is in infant stage having started only in 1947, as such it would be difficult to order introduction of provident fund. However, the Company agreed to this scheme later on on the basis of award of the Engineering Tribunal award if its financial position becomes secure and more stable.

No. 5.—Retrenchment of workers.

It was submitted that all these 14 workers were on account of their Union activity. The workers mentioned in the order of the Union did not press the case of Sankar Mukherjee who was admittedly a misdoer, i.e., stealing Company's property. The burden is on the Union to show that these workers had been dynamic workers of the Company. Evidence is hopelessly lacking on this point. None of these workers was examined. Sankar Mitra who claims that he was a member of the Executive Committee of the Union, reading between the lines of the award, is not at all convinced that he was a member of the Executive Committee for he does not know the names of other members of the Committee, nor could he say the amount of subscription raised by him each year and other important members of the Union still in the service of the Company. Retrenchment is proved.

Company has submitted that all these workers to be discharged due to paucity of work. It was urged that the Company was in a weak financial position, as such paucity of work was groundless. A submission was made by the Company and I find that overtime extended to workers who were discharged. Heavy due to persons who were discharged. I find that overtime was demanded. I find that there was really work and that the Company had to discharge them. It is a case of retrenchment. I find that the workers if sent back to work, the Company would have to pay them a good deal of money. I find that the workers if sent back to work, the Company would have to pay them a good deal of money.

Issue No. 6.—Discharge of Sankar Mitra.

The Union's case is that this Sankar Mitra was the Assistant Secretary and he has been victimised for his Union activity. Sankar Mitra was examined before me and I find on his own admission that he got a warning slip for neglect of his duties. Thereafter evidence shows that he became insolent and created a row. He was asked to show cause why disciplinary action should not be taken against him. But it appears he did not care to offer any explanation until now, and on his own admission, it is clear that he has not as yet sent any reply to the Company. In my opinion, he has been rightly discharged.

Summary of the main recommendations.

1. Basic pay and dearness allowance as per provisions laid down in the Major Engineering Tribunal award.
2. Leave as provided in the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal.
3. Provisions regarding involuntary unemployment—same as laid down in the Major Engineering Tribunal award.
4. Regarding discharged employees no retrenchment statement is ordered.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 5847Lab., dated the 18th June 1949.

warranted to be for adjustment under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The case of the Union brings up the fact that on or about the month of January 1947, a dispute arose between the Company and the Union concerning a number of matters affecting the pay and welfare of the employees and that the West Bengal Government had referred the dispute to a Tribunal presided over by Sri S. K. Sen, I.O.S., for adjudication.

The Tribunal gave its award which was published on the 23rd April 1948, and was made binding for a period of one year starting from 1st December 1947.

The Union submits that the economic position prevailing in the country at the time when the Tribunal made its award has changed considerably since the last award was made and in particular, the cost of living has substantially increased.

The Union, therefore, requests the Company to grant an increase in the rate of dearness allowance and claims other privileges regarding revision of pay scales and wages and payment of bonus, etc. The demands so made were not satisfied by the Company. Hence the matter had been referred by the Government to the Tribunal.

The Company, on the other hand, submits that during the 13 years of existence, it has had to undergo innumerable difficulties mainly due to the depressed state of the Indian sugar trade in its early years and during the war, and would have been extinct had not the Managing Agents helped it with the large loans sometimes amounting to Rs. 9 lacs without security.

The work of the sugar factory is seasonal. In 1940-41, the mill crushed 26 lacs mounds of cane in 5 months but since 1942, it has never been able to obtain more than 15 lacs, three-quarters of which came from the Company's own farms. The number of seasonal employees is about 640 and permanent employees about 600. The monthly wages paid have been such as to attract more than sufficient labour every season. The labour is drawn mostly from the neighbouring villages. Of the lower grades, while the men are attracted to the mill, the rest of the families work on a daily basis in the cultivation and harvesting time.

Profits of 1945 were quite exceptional and are never likely to be repeated. The profits for the current season are estimated to be little more than one-third of those of the previous season. The sugar industry of India is at present producing sugar at a cost nearly double that of other producing countries. The Government is making every effort to reduce the price of sugar and it is proposed to remove the protective tariff in the near future. With the partition of India and the consequent loss of the markets in the north-west provinces, Pakistan, the sugar production of India has fallen and it is now necessary to meet the consumption demands.

The Company, therefore, submits that it is not possible to grant an increase in the rate of dearness allowance and other privileges requested by the Union. The Tribunal, however, has awarded an increase in the rate of dearness allowance and other privileges. The Company, therefore, requests the Tribunal to award an increase in the rate of dearness allowance and other privileges.

Rs. 5.

Clerks drawing pay between Rs. 41—50—Rs. 2.

I make no order of increment regarding clerks... drawing higher pay. This order of increment... will apply only to the permanent clerks and not... to seasonal clerks who work for only three or... four months. This increment of pay is to be... given from the month of September 1949 on which... the financial year of the Company begins.

Issue No. 5: Huts.

The Union urges that the provision for housing... the employees has not at all been made. The... Company, it is alleged, has frustrated the provi-... sions for housing allowance in the last award by... denying house allowance to many workers who for... lack of accommodation are herded together in... huts made for single individuals. The Company's... case is that owing to lack of funds in the past, it... was not possible to erect quarters for all the... staff, permanent and seasonal. The building... programme costing over Rs. 5,50,000 has recently... been started and a large number of new quarters... have already been built and others are in course... of erection. Regarding accommodation, the... employees preferred to live together with 4 or 5... or more in a hut. This ensures greater safety... security for their belongings, facility in joint... cooking of meals and friendly atmosphere. Moreover, the Company only builds huts to... accommodate at least 3 or more persons and... never builds huts intended for single person. On... considering the entire circumstances, I am of... opinion that no order is called for and house rent... cannot be claimed as the house building scheme... is already in progress.

Issue No. 6: Travelling allowance and the retaining allowance to mates and others.

The Union prayed that travelling allowances... be paid to mates in accordance with the practice... prevailing in other sugar mills. These mates are... seasonal workers and as such have got no lien on... the services. No case has been made out that... such travelling allowance is paid in other sugar... factories in India. The retainer and travelling... allowance claimed have never been paid by the... Company. Seasonal workers, as these mates are... get the privilege of bonus like the permanent staff... although they only work for 3/4 months. This... is an advantage. Moreover almost all of them... have off-seasonal occupations, mostly agricultural... and seldom remain idle. The prayer is therefore... rejected.

Issue No. 7: Retrenchment.

The Union urges that many old hands have... been retrenched thereby laying additional burden... and strain and responsibility on many workers... who are apprehensive lest their failure to... justice to the added responsibilities might... in their being classified as inefficient. The... apprehends retrenchment.

No particulars of the persons suffering from such extra responsibility, or burden, had been given. Moreover, it is not at all fair to place injunction on the Company restricting their power to retrench in future when necessary.

Issue No. 8: Water supply.

The Company is fully alive in the matter and already water-pipes are being installed and it is fully expected that water will be placed within easy reach of the workers very soon. No order is therefore necessary from the Tribunal.

Issue No. 9: Office accommodation for the Union.

This was already dealt with by the Tribunal on 22nd April 1948. The Tribunal of Mr. S. K. Sen observed as follows:—"In the matter of provisions of accommodation for the Union Office, the Union must realise that it cannot really claim such provision of accommodation by the Company as of right. It must regard the Company's offer to provide accommodation as a gesture of good-will." In my opinion also, no order can be made on the Company to compel them to make provision for office accommodation, there being no obligation in law or equity on the Company as the prayer is ex-gratia pure and simple.

Issue No. 10: School for children of employees.

The demand for provisions of school by the Company is strictly speaking not an industrial dispute. Education is a matter for the State and responsibility for the same also lies on the State. The Company, however, it is pleasing to find, contributes to the various schools nearabout the factory. In Ramnagar where there is a minor school, the Company pays Rs. 100 per mensem. Full advantage is taken by the wards of the workers in these institutions. The number of school-going and pathshala-going boys of the workers is also negligible—it will be barely 30 to 40 according to Union. The claim is rejected.

Issue No. 11: Notice in case of involuntary unemployment.

The Union urges that three days' prior notice be given to workers in case of involuntary unemployment. It is not practicable to give notice 3 days in advance as claimed, for the working of the mill is a continuous process and no stoppages are allowed if they can be avoided. Stoppages only occur due to unavoidable reasons beyond the control of the management and as such cannot be foreseen before a few hours.

Regarding second part of the issue, there was no argument and I order that the existing practice is to continue.

Issue No. 12: Company's garden and dairy produce.

The Union urges that the products of the Company's garden and dairy are distributed by the Company free of cost as a favoured form of reward for their anti-strike activities. The Union demanded that such products should be distributed in a fair manner among all employees. The allegations are petty and I doubt if the Union was serious in the matter. It is an utterly insignificant and petty industrial dispute. Prayer is rejected.

Issue No. 13: Provision of electricity.

The Union demands that the Company should supply the workers with electricity for their homes. The Company has already supplied electricity to the workers' homes and the Union has no further claim.

Issue No. 15: Supply of fuel.

At the time of the formation of the Company, the lands have been cleared and plantation, fuel wood was available and was supplied to the plant for cutting and transportation which was no longer available. The Company, under no obligation to supply. In any event, fuel was to those members of the staff living in quarters, number whereof did not exceed 10% of the entire strength. The Union wishes to discontinue the supply of fuel to the staff, living in Company's quarters, agreed to continue the supply of fuel to existing beneficiaries at cost price operative society. In my opinion, the Company is at liberty to accept this offer, for it cannot be compelled to supply fuel at concession rate on grounds already stated. The Union is to send a letter to the Company within one month from the date of the award if they are agreeable to supply fuel at cost price.

Issue No. 14.

There was no demand by the Union for points but the Company raises these points. Thus it calls for no adjustment in the award. The matter is left absolutely to the discretion of the employees.

Summary of the main recommendations.

1. No increment of the existing mess allowance.
2. Leave facilities for clerical and employees to be maintained on the existing basis.
3. One month's basic pay as bonus for 1948-49.
4. Prayer for grading scheme of non-clerical employees rejected and no increment has been given as embodied in the award.
5. No travelling allowance to mess retaining allowance to skilled employees for more than 3 years.
6. Prayer for office accommodation for the Union rejected.

The award is to come into effect on the date when the Government may be pleased to make the award.

No. T.M./912.—16th November 1949.—Under the existing arrangements certain classes of schedules and vouchers are required to be sent by the Treasury Officers to other Accounts Officers direct. It has been observed that in spite of instructions issued on this subject from time to time, the schedules, etc., are not in many cases sent by the Treasury Officers direct to the proper quarters. It is directed that the following instructions should be strictly followed by all Treasury Officers in West Bengal:—

- (a) All advance schedules with supporting documents relating to payments under "2—Central Excise Duties" should be sent to the Officer-in-charge, T. B. Section, Office of the Accountant-General, Central Revenues, New Delhi.

2. The number and date of the forwarding memorandum sending the schedules and vouchers to other Accounts Officers should invariably be quoted against the relevant entries in the List of Payments and Cash Accounts. A clean copy of the advance schedule as also of the forwarding memorandum showing the number and date of issue thereof should always accompany the List of Payments and Cash Accounts. If, however, in any case such advance is not submitted to the Accounts Officers for their submission of the List of Payments and Cash Accounts to this office, etc., as also of the forwarding memorandum, the documents are sent to this office as per the instructions of the Accounts Officers.

3. This supersedes the office memorandum No. T.M./840, dated the 16th November 1949, and T.M./292, dated the 16th November 1949, in the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 17th November 1949, and the 23rd June 1949, respectively. of the bill from which the amount is withheld or in which it is deducted, etc. A note of the bill is required to be made in the office of the original bill for the period to which the bill pertains, over the dated initials of the officer of the bill in order to avoid the bill being claimed over again. It has been the notice of this office that the supplementary bills are not properly prepared giving full details mentioned above (i.e., the amount and date of encashment of the bill). It has also come to notice that in some cases no notes are being recorded in the files of the original bills with the result it is not possible for this office to make notes of supplementary claims on the original paid bills on which the claims were omitted or on which this office is required to do in paragraph 126(b) of the Audit Manual. Therefore notified for the information of all Treasury and Disbursing Officers of both Central and Provincial Governments under audit control of this office that supplementary bills should always be prepared according to the rules mentioned above. The supplementary bills which do not conform with the above instructions will be disallowed and passed by this office or by the Treasury and Sub-Treasury Officers as the case may be.

Treasury and Sub-Treasury Officers in West Bengal should note the above for necessary action.

(2) An officer whose pay exceeds Rs. 2,750 but does not exceed Rs. 3,000 and whose pay is reduced to Rs. 2,750 under the orders in paragraph 3 above, will be permitted to reduce his subscription (as calculated on the pay before reduction) to a Provident Fund under these orders by the amount by which his pay is reduced.

(3) Any Government servant, to whom these orders apply, and who is not eligible to subscribe to any Government Provident Fund under the existing rules, will subscribe to the General Provident Fund.

(4) These orders apply to an officer who is on leave, on deputation, or on foreign service.

6. (1) The minimum rate of subscription specified in paragraph 5 above are inclusive of any sums which a Government servant may already be subscribing.
